LOSS IN 4 FIRES ESTIMATED TO TOTAL $214,000

Damage of One That Did $140,000 in S.
Seventh Street Aluminum Factory Undetermined.

SMOKE HAMPERED FIREFMEN IN WORK

Two of Them Cut by Flying
Glass—Eight Firms Suffer Loss in Washington Ave.
Blaze.

The fire of undetermined origin in the factory of the American Aluminum Co., 305-07 South Seventh street, starting at 5:25 p. m. yesterday, caused damage to the stock and building estimated at $140,000.

It was one of four fires late yesterday afternoon and last night that resulted in damage figured at approximately $214,000. A blaze last night in a two-story building at 121-23 Washington avenue, occupied by eight clothing and wholesale merchants, resulted in loss estimated at $18,000.

The blaze in the American Aluminum Co. plant, near the center of the jobbing district, attracted a crowd that blocked nearby streets.
The first engine company to reach
the fire turned in a general alarm.

Two firemen cut by glass.
Clouds of smoke pouring from windows of the upper floors prevented firemen from entering the building for nearly an hour. At one point streams of water were being thrown on the flames.

Chief Panzer today said injury still being made into the case of the fire, which apparently started on the sixth floor. Officers of the company expressed a belief that it was due to spontaneous combustion in packing materials. The fire closed at 5 p. m. The first alarm was turned in at 5:25 p. m.

A patrolman who saw smoke come from windows on the top floors, 1213
Park avenue, of Engine Co. No. 8, also was cut by glass. Both men returned to duty after receiving first aid treatment.

Estimates of Damage.
Robert Thal of 5153 Washington avenue, president of the American Aluminum Co., said the damage to stock and fixtures was approximately $140,000. Damage to the building, owned by the Hayner estate, was said to be $75,000.

Stocks of the Wesco Supply Co., which occupies the adjoining building at Seventh street and Clark avenue, slightly damaged by smoke and flooding of the basement with water.

Proprietors of several of the establishments at 121-23 Washington avenue declined today to say what were their losses in the fire, which started in the basement and spread to the first floor. Estimations on the total damage averaged $18,000.

Loss of the Missouri Clothing Co.
was estimated in the police report at $100; Silverman Woolen Co., $100;
Louis Rosenberg, tailor, $100.
Individual estimates were not given for other occupants of the building,
including the Wagner Dry Goods Co., Friedman Textile Co., Middleton Garment Co., Reliable Umbrella Co., Julius Lippmann Clothing
Co. and the Lippman Bros. Manufacturing Co.

Emergency Employes Gives Alarm.
The alarm was given by Nathan Kernum of 5804 Delmar boulevard, a former employe of one of the firms in the building. He said he noticed smoke rising from a basement window as he was riding past at 5:15 p. m. on a bus. He turned on an alarm, assisted firemen in entering the building, and was overcome by smoke and cut by glass.

INSURED AGAINST FAILURE TO TAKE PHOTOS OF ECLIPSE

Expedition to Yerdaniz, Mexico,
Gets $10,000 Policy Guar-

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—Scientists of Swarthmore College have taken out the shortest term insurance policy on record to protect from rain,
dust clouds or wind an expedition
that will make photographs of the total eclipse of the sun for three minutes on Sept. 10. For a premium of $500 the Home Insurance Co. of New York has written a $10,000 policy covering the expedition during the visibility of the eclipse at Yerdaniz, Mexico.

Dr. John A. Miller of Swarthmore

hopes to verify the Einstein theory

CANVASS TO REPEAL STATE DRY LAWS STARTS IN ST. JOSEPH

Anti-Prohibition Society of Missouri
Backs Circulation of Initiative Petitions.

By the Associated Press.
ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Aug. 29.—A move in a State-wide effort to obtain the repeal of Missouri dry laws
through the medium of an initiative petition, was started in St. Joseph yesterday when nine women canvassers began soliciting names for the petition.

The repeal of the dry laws would,
as it recently did in New York,
leave the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquor still illegal under the Constitution of the United States, but would withdraw the State police force from participation in enforcement of the anti-liquor provision.

Frederick Parks of Kansas City is directing the activities of the canvassing force. The Anti-Prohibition Society of Missouri is behind the movement.

CIGARETTES GAIN IN SALES

Internal Revenue Report Shows

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—Cigarette smoking continues to increase,
with the use of most other forms of tobacco becoming slightly less popular, figures of the Bureau of Internal Revenue indicate.

The bureau made public today
comparative data on tax-paid products indicated by the monthly sales of stamps. The number of cigarettes
for which tax was paid in 1922 1923, was 5,839,707,747, compared with 5,248,812,010 for the same month last year. There was an increase of some 585,874,114, to 589, 170,020 in the number of cigarettes indicated by the sale of stamps, but the consumption of small cigars,
snuff and manufactured tobacco dropped. There was a decrease in the importation of large cigars from Porto Rico, but Philippine cigars proved more popular.

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 29.—Ten 95-

in which the planes were placed three years ago by the Curtis Airplane Co. to the account of the Grand Island Aero Co., now defunct.

The lien, which included storage,
freight and insurance charges, amounted to $7000. Capt. R. T. W. Duke, commander of an infantry company
at Fort Crook, paid $399.98 for a standard ship, in which he plans

5 ITALIAN MEMBERS OF ALBANIAN-GREEK MISSION MURDERED

Assassins Fire on Boundary
Officials in Forest Near Kakadia—Political Motive Indicated.

PROFOUND IMPRESSION CREATED IN ROME

Government Announces Severe Measures Warranted
by Seriousness of Situation
Have Been Taken.

By the Associated Press.
ROME, Aug. 29.—The assassination of five Italian members of the Albanian-Greek boundary mission has created a profound impression
here and it was announced that the Government has taken the severe measures of the extraordinary seriousness of the situation warrants.

According to a report of the Council of Ambassadors the five slain were:

General Tellini, Dr. Corti, the medical attaché; Lieutenant Bonaldi, Fornati, a chauffeur, and Craveri,
an interpreter.

The assassinations occurred Monday, the report asserted, as the party was motoring from Janina, Albania, to Santi Quaranta.

Attack in Dense Forest.
The road lay through a forest and when the automobile had reached a point not far from the Greek frontier post at Kakadia, the chauffeur was forced to stop because of the density of the woods.

Sudden firing opened on the automobile, the report continued.
"From 20 to 40 shots were fired, Dr.
Corti being instantly killed. The others died after making a vain effort to reach shelter. General Tellini collapsed after walking about twenty paces.

"The automobile bearing the Greek member of the commission, C. Bottazzoli came up but the assassins had fled.

Because of the isolation of the place and the difficulties of transportation medical aid and a police detachment from Janina did not arrive until nightfall.

Political Motive Indicated.
"Inasmuch as the bodies were neither disturbed nor searched by the assassins, it is believed that the crime was committed for political motives. An official inquiry gave no results."

The report added that the French and British members of the commission, Premier Mussolini has instructed the northern frontier had been notified of the assassinations.

The Albanian Government has convicted to Premier Mussolini its conditions.

The incident has caused much feeling throughout Italy and demonstrations of protest were reported today from Milan, Florence and other large centers of population.

The responsibility of the assassins has not been determined, but many of the newspapers express the belief that one of the independent bands notorious for their ruthless raiding
in the last week was responsible.

Mussolini Demands Full Reparation and Prompt Apology.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Aug. 29.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Rome says Premier Mussolini has instructed the Italian Minister in Athens to demand from the Greek Government the fullest reparation and a prompt apology for the assassination of members of the Italian boundary mission. The Premier also requested the apprehension and punishment of the assassins.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and Chicago Daily News.
LONDON, Aug. 29.—The murder of the Italian mission assigned to the work of establishing the Albanian-Greek frontier is viewed in official quarters here as a substantial evidence of the wise policy of English and American Governments in refusing to recognize the present Greek Government.

It held that the Government of Greece, the regime of which was inaugurated by a series of heartless executions, cannot expect anything but violence from the people who take its early action as an example to be followed.

France had already recognized the revolutionary Government and Italy had ordered the former Minister in Athens, but the assassinations of Gen. Tellini and other Italian officers makes complete recognition unlikely. Thus the situation in the Near East is excited nearly a year

SHIP REPORTS UPHEAVAL ON FLOOR OF ATLANTIC, 10,000 FEET IN HEIGHT

CAPE TOWN, South Africa,
Aug. 29.

OFFICERS of the cable ship
Britannia, which has just arrived here, tell of a recent severe submarine convulsion in the Atlantic. News of a break in the cable was received here Aug.
4. The Britannia left the next day and began grappling for the broken cable at a spot midway between Cape Town and St. Helena, 850 miles north of Cape Town, in latitude 26-10 and longitude 6-25.

The depth at this spot has been officially stated previously at about 2,250 miles. After a fort-night's search the cable was found at a depth of less than a mile. A few miles north of where the cable was found was a shoal
only a little more than half a mile below the surface. It is surmised that the southern end of this bank was raised by an upheaval of the sea bottom. The sudden movement probably snapped the cable.

It was found that the upheaval
had extended seven miles, was 10,000 feet in height and probably thrice this in width. This part of the coast is not volcanic,
which makes the upheaval all the more astonishing.

GIRL, 14, DROWNED IN SWIMMING POOL

Genevieve Linder's Body Quickly Recovered at St. Mark's Gymnasium—Pulmotor Fails.

By the Associated Press.
Genevieve Linder, 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Linder, 1478 Rowan place, was drowned at 9:45 a. m. today in the swimming pool in the gymnasium
attached to the parish school of St.
Mark's Catholic Church on Academy avenue, between Page and Minerva avenues.

The child, who was a pupil of the Hemphreys School, had gone to the gymnasium with Mary Krallman, 13, of 1408 Rowan place, who was swimming with other children.
She went to the middle, where the water
is six feet deep, and went down.
Her companion ran into the school
yard to call for help and the Rev.
Father R. E. McKewen, assistant pastor of St. Mark's, and James Keough of 5069 Minerva, a life guard, jumped into the pool and recovered the body.

GREEK PRINCESS, WIDOW OF LEEDS, SINKING RAPIDLY

Virtually All Hope Abandoned for Recovery of Anastasia—Last Sacraments Administered.

MARRIED IN 1920 TO PRINCE CHRISTOPHER

Interest of Huge Trust Will Revert to Son, William B.
Leeds, in Event of Mother's Death.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Aug. 29.—Princess Anastasia of Greece, formerly Mrs.
William B. Leeds, who has been suffering for some time from an organic intestinal affection, was sinking rapidly this afternoon, and her doctors said that virtually all hope had been abandoned. The last sacraments were administered by a priest of the Russian orthodox church.

Princess Anastasia, widow of the American tin plate king, is the wife of Prince Christopher of Greece, to whom she was married in 1920.

She had a bad sinking spell this morning. Her family was hastily summoned to the bedside expecting the end.

Her condition is so greatly improved that the physicians say all they can do is to strive to make her as comfortable as possible. There is no hope, they assert, of overcoming the organic malady from which she is suffering. Since yesterday afternoon she has failed to recognize those about her.

Specialists Called.
Sir Thomas Harder, cancer specialist, who has been called to the Leeds home, has been called in by several other specialists for consultation. Dr.
Turner, an American physician residing in Paris, who treated the Princess during her last critical illness there, was summoned to London last night.

Prince Christopher remains constantly at the bedside of his wife, who apparently fails to realize the gravity of her illness. Her son, William B. Leeds, who married Princess Xenia of Greece in 1921, and to whom the interest of the huge Leeds trust fund reverts in event of the death of his mother, is also in attendance.

The venerable Queen Mother Olga of Greece, who has been residing constantly at the man's mansion, utterly shocked since she was taken to the office of Victor F. Boiere, surrogate of Clinton County, and said
brusquely:

"I want to make a will."
Surrogate Boiere made the will, witnessing at the man's mansion, but refused to affix his seal until Sargent was identified. Sargent called a local hardware dealer, whom he had met in a New York City Club, and asked that he witness it, which was done.

The will leaves 25 shares of American Telephone and Telegraph Co.
stock and his automobile to "My housekeeper, Sadie Walker, Carnegie Building, New York City." He had only $2.58 in his pockets.

Franklin Haven Sargent was born in Boston in 1856. He received his
A. B. from Harvard University in 1877 and in 1878 began his career teaching dramatic art. He was instructor of elocution at Harvard in 1880 and 1882 and became dramatic director of the Madison Square Theater here in the latter part of 1882.
He held that post two years.

He has been president of the American Academy of Dramatic Arts
since it was founded in 1884 as New York City's first dramatic school, having a collegiate course. In 1900
he originated and conducted a theater for children in Carnegie Lyceum.

Finest for Whipping Hippopotamus.
PITTSBURGH, Aug. 29.—For assaulting a hippopotamus with a bull whip, Robert McClain, an animal trainer in a circus which showed here yesterday, was fined $10 in police court early today before the circus left the city. McClain, an agent of the Western Pennsylvania Humane Society testified, struck the hippopotamus with a heavy whip a number of times, finally hitting it in the eye. An officer of the circus company testified the animal was worth $11,000.

PINCHOT CALLS COAL CONFEREES TO HEAR PEACE PLAN

Meeting Summoned for 6 P. M. Today. When He Will Submit Compromise Proposal to Avert Strike.

PROBABLY WILL ASK FOR 30-DAY TRUCE

Also Intimated Governor Will Urge 8-Hour Work and New Plan to Collect Union Dues.

HARRISBURG, Aug. 28.—Gov. Pinchot will bring his intervention in the anthracite coal situation to a climax tonight. He called on representatives of the mine operators and officials of the miners' union today to meet him at 6 p. m., jointly to hear and answer a compromise which he has prepared in the endeavor to avert suspension of operations, Sept. 1.

The Governor's peace proposal, terms of which were kept officially secret, was practically in readiness at noon today. Among the advisers whose final word upon it was given during the morning was the Rev. J. J. Father Curran, a Wilkesbarre priest, whose connection with settlement attempts in anthracite controversies dates back to the time of Roosevelt.

The only intimations as to what the Governor had in mind in the settlement attempt gave the impression he would ask from both sides a 30-day truce; from the operators an abandonment of all but eight-hour day employment, and the extension of union dues in company of offices on pay days, which is now done, and a resumption of direct wage negotiations between the leaders on both sides.

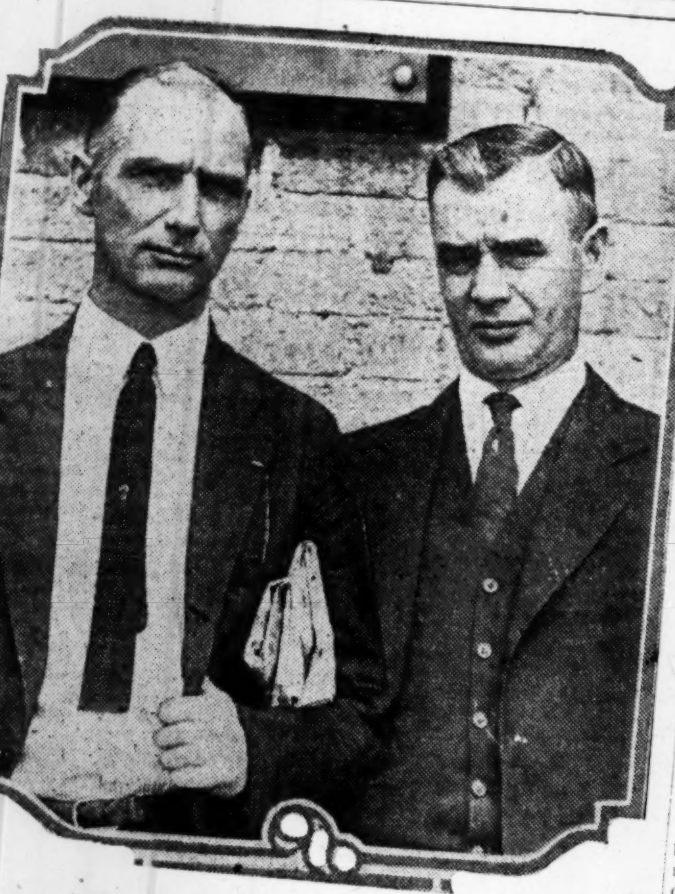

Arbitration Aside, Temporarily. The employees' tender of arbitration for all disputed points, to which unyielding opposition, was said to have been set aside for the moment by the Governor. What he planned to do in case of a rejection of his terms by one or both groups the Governor would not say. Miners' union representatives gave the impression that they would not accept with it a September 1 wage increase, require this of operators seemed doubtful.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, who has left the preliminary dealings with Gov. Pinchot in the hands of his general secretary, also were on hand. For the operators, the same with dealing with the union men, Samuel D. Warriner, A. B. Jessup, W. W. Ingles and W. J. Richards, were on hand and accepted the Governor's invitation in behalf of the employers.

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—During the bituminous year, 12,000,000 tons of coal were produced in the United States, according to a report issued by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. The report also states that the production of coal in the United States for the year 1922 was 11,000,000 tons.

Turkish cause. Now France recognizes Greece and Great Britain is preparing to recognize the new Turkish Government.

Considerable anxiety exists among the British commercial interests over the failure to recognize the present Greek Government, but acts of violence sue ally those just reported for friendly relations with the revolutionists.

As the result of the new alignment in Greece, France has secured an important contract for enlarging the harbor of Piraeus, which previously had been promised to British interests. Some doubt exists whether the present Greek Government will live long enough to make the contract valid, its life depending upon the result of the conflict and hatreds aroused by harsh actions.

It Was Son of Richest Prince of India Who Expired on Train in Holland. It Has Been Discovered.

REUTERS from London says it was not the Maharaja Gajekwar of Baroda, the richest Prince of India, who died on board a train near Amsterdam Monday night while on his way to the Holland city, but the Maharaja's son, Jalsingh Rao, who was educated at Harvard University.

The dispatch says the mistake in announcing the Maharaja's death evidently was due to the habit of his correspondent recalling that similar confusion prevailed when another son of the Maharaja died.

It is added that the error in stating that it was the Maharaja who died on board the train was discovered when the British Consul at Amsterdam was informed of the death, as he was, whereas the Maharaja is still alive. The Maharaja is traveling in the Orient.

As both the Maharaja's sons are now dead, the heir to his great fortune is a grandson.

Propose Sharing Losses and Profits—Told to Get Together With Owners.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—Another plan for operation of the Government's merchant fleet, submitted by the managing operators and differing in one important respect from the rejected plan of the steamship owners, was before the Shipping Board today.

Presented at the board's conference with the two groups yesterday, the operators' plan proposed that the Government should share the losses and profits of the ultimate purchase of ships, contended the Government should assume them.

At the same time, Chairman Farley outlined definitely the alternative plan which the shipping Board proposed to put into effect if no acceptable privilege ownership plan groups to get together as quickly as possible on a concrete proposal.

The board's plan contemplates operation of the fleet through a number of subsidiary corporations, owned by the board and operating under its control.

Meeting at Havana, However, is Permitted—Officials Apparently Concerned.

HAVANA, Aug. 29.—After a conference between Mayor Cuesta and President Zayas it was announced at the meeting of the Cuban veterans under Gen. Garcia Velez would be permitted to hold this afternoon parade through the streets of Havana which had been prohibited.

The time of President Zayas for the last 26 hours has been largely taken up in conferences with high officials relative to the activities of the veterans.

An interview printed in the Mundo today, President Zayas said when the veterans began holding meetings he gave little attention to the matter, but that in view of the threatening situation created by the acts certain elements have pretended to carry out in Washington, and realizing that the movement is passing the limits of legality, he considered it his duty to exact in a secret but efficacious way to safeguard the welfare and liberty of the republic.

President Zayas said he would take all steps necessary against any movement in opposition to the constituted authorities and that he would not tolerate any insult to the United States.

Dr. Rafael Burralde, secretary of the Cuban veterans, who informed of a New York dispatch saying that a cabinet membership had been imposed here, said that neither he nor President Zayas had heard of the action.

Dr. Burralde said that men had been sent to the local offices of the Commercial Cable Co. to inspect telegrams and outgoing messages which he says the Government has sought to do, but that no censorship had been suggested.

Censorship Order Viewed as Precautionary Measure.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—Although no American official will discuss the imposition by Cuba of censorship between that country and the United States it is believed by those outside official circles but in close touch with the Cuban situation that the step was taken as a precaution against possible serious political developments.

The activities of the Cuban veterans organization, which has been holding many mass meetings in Havana, set against the new railroad consolidation legislation and other Government measures, are said to have caused considerable anxiety among some officials in Havana.

However, reports the American Government has on that subject, however, are held in strictest confidence.

JUDGE MAKES BARGAIN WITH BOY TO RETURN TO SCHOOL

Makes Injuring Judgment of $800 for Injuries Conditional on His Finishing Studies.

Circuit Judge Mix today made a bargain with H. James Jennings Jr., 17 years old, of 4019 Kossuth avenue, that if the youth would return to high school and complete a four-year term, judgment for $800 would be entered in his favor. Jennings, who was injured in June by a motor truck of the May Department Stores Co., had settled with the company for $800 for himself plus $300 for his parents, and appeared in court today to have a judgment entered.

Jennings told Judge Mix that he went to work for Butler Bros. at the end of the school year last year and did not intend to return to school. Judge Mix figured on a piece of paper that the $800 would amount to the sum that Jennings would earn at work in the remaining school period of two years.

"When I was a boy, I had to earn my living by shining shoes and selling newspapers to get schooling," said the Judge. "Here you have $800. You ought to be willing to finish your school course."

Jennings studied a moment and then accepted the proposition.

"A bargain is a bargain," said the Judge, shaking Jennings' hand. "When you finish your high school education, come to me and I will present you with a graduation suit."

The wage scale for bricklayers' apprentices is $2 a day. The Mayor would not say what he is paying Clarence.

THEATER OWNERS TO DISTRIBUTE PICTURES

Answer to Demand for Higher Rentals of Films and Increased Admission Charges.

SPECIAL TO THE POST-DISPATCH.
NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—The Theater Owners Distributing Corporation created by the Motion Picture Theater Owners of America, the national exhibitors' body, will actively engage in the distribution of motion pictures in October.

This is the exhibitors' answer to the demand for higher rentals and increased admission charges. W. A. True, president of the new organization, at 25 West Forty-third street, said today:

"The exhibitors protest against the policy of the public, the national exhibitors' body, will actively engage in the distribution of motion pictures in October."

"We believe that our success depends in the future, as well as the past, on the fundamental policy of healthy entertainment at small pay."

"We know that the exhibitors in constant touch with the public are frequently unable to supply the public with what it wants under the present system of distribution, whereby we are frequently forced to book pictures 'sight unseen' six months in advance of their actual showing in our theaters. We have even been forced to buy pictures before they are made."

"The whole system has tended to disregard the public's wishes. Bad pictures in the theaters have not been the fault of the exhibitors altogether, but largely the evil of a situation beyond the exhibitors' control. This we will correct."

"Under our plan we will accept the desires of the public, and we will present these thoughts back to the studios chain for the public the kind of attractions it desires. For the first time the public will actually have a voice in a design for a better picture that will be made."

"We are opposed to the outrageously high salaries paid to stars and this includes stars who are mere children—which tremendously high costs are passed on to the public. We also object to the extravagant press stories put out by producers and distributors attendant on announcements of such salaries and to statements about the quality of pictures which prove to be false."

"We protest against padded pictures and against doll-faced beauties who contribute nothing to the pictures."

"We are prepared to fight the cause of the independent producer who is at the mercy of the big companies under the present system."

"Therefore we, the actual theater owners of America, have made a definite stand not only for ourselves, but for the independent producers and the public."

It is understood that men representing an investment of over $20,000,000 in motion picture theaters are behind the movement, covering every section of the country.

Among theater owners in the movement are presidents of major State organizations, including Eli W. Collins of Arkansas and C. T. Sears of Missouri. Joseph Mogler of St. Louis, vice president of the Motion Picture Theater Owners' Association, is one of those behind the movement.

ARMY AIRMEN LAND AFTER 37-HOUR FLIGHT OF 3393 MILES; SET MANY RECORDS

Smith and Richter, Whose Plane Was Refueled and Reprovisioned in Mid-Air, Averaged 88.50 Miles Per Hour.

By the Associated Press.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Aug. 29.—Capt. Lowell H. Smith and Lieut. John P. Richter, army aviators, broke several world's records for endurance and distance and speed before they landed early last night after cruising above the city continuously for 37 hours and 15 minutes.

Smith and Richter took on in mid-air fuel for their De Havilland plane no less than 15 times. Thus they demonstrated that planes need not carry great amounts of fuel and food to go long distances without stopping, but may fly on indefinitely to be met at certain air lanes by refueling and reprovisioning airplanes.

The two airmen took off at 5:02:14 a. m. Monday. They landed as a fog gathered at 6:19:32 p. m. yesterday. Time after time the refueling plane soared directly above the record-seekers. Fuel and water were dropped and Smith and Richter were able to stay aloft. Here is the summary of their flight as recorded officially at the air field:

Duration record, 37 hours, 15 minutes, 14.4 seconds, one hour and 10 minutes longer than the record of Lieuts. Oakley Kelly and John A. MacReady in their transcontinental flight.

Four Speed Records Broken.

Total distance flown, 5300 kilometers, or 3393.26 miles, at an average speed of 88.50 miles an hour. The record of Kelly and MacReady was 2541 miles.

World speed records broken were: Two thousand five hundred kilometers—Time, 15 hours, 30 minutes, 32.5 seconds; 88.83 miles an hour. Former record, 21 hours, 37 minutes, 3 seconds.

Three thousand kilometers—Time, 21 hours, 8 minutes, 44.2 seconds; 81.10 miles an hour. Old record, 26 hours, 1 minute, 32 seconds.

Three thousand five hundred kilometers—Time 24 hours, 37 minutes, 44.4 seconds; 88.50 miles an hour. Former record, 30 hours, 28 minutes, 51 seconds.

Four thousand kilometers—Time, 28 hours, 6 minutes, 48 seconds, 88.50 miles an hour. Old record, 35 hours, 6 minutes, 38 seconds.

The following new world speed records were established:

Four thousand five hundred kilometers—Time, 31 hours, 36 minutes, 29 seconds; 88.50 miles an hour.

Five thousand kilometers—Time, 35 hours, 4 minutes, 26 seconds; 88.75 miles an hour.

Fought Fog Throughout Night.

Tired and stiff from their long grind, Capt. Smith and Lieut. Richter yesterday climbed from the ship and literally fought their way through the dense crowd assembled to greet them. According to Smith, they battled a heavy fog all Monday night, and when they saw the same condition appearing late yesterday they signaled that a landing was about to be made.

Capt. Smith said that considerable trouble was experienced Monday night through the gasoline strainer becoming clogged, and he smashed his flashlight, tapping the strainer to continue the flow of fuel to the motor.

Aside from this strainer trouble the powerful Liberty motor gave a wonderful performance of mechanical endurance.

During the flight 572 gallons of gasoline and 36 gallons of oil were transferred to the plane.

Richter, a native of Virginia, received his air training in British and French aviation schools early in the war and was one of the first American aviators sent to the war zone.

He served in the Meuse-Argonne offensive combat pilot with the 22nd and 120th pursuit squadrons of the second army pursuit group. Last winter, he attracted public attention by his daring flight alone in search of the late Lieut. Charles Webber, who with Col. C. F. Marshall, was lost in a flight from San Diego to Fort Huachuca.

Smith and Richter had made two notable attempts for distance and

MAN ENDS LIFE IN HOME OF FORMER WIFE

Woman Says Henry Cundiff, 58, Threatened to Kill Her Unless She Consented to Remarriage.

Henry Cundiff, 58 years old, of 4046 1/2 North Broadway, shot and killed himself in the home of his former wife, Mrs. Arquill Rowe, at 2507 North Tenth street, today at 10 a. m.

Mrs. Rowe said that for more than a year, Cundiff had been coming to her home asking that she re-marry him. In the meantime, he had married, but separated from his second wife last May and then more vigorously pleaded with her and at times threatened.

He appeared at 8 a. m. today, locked her in her room, argued and pleaded until about 10 a. m., when he drew a revolver and, holding a watch in the other hand, told her to choose, to which he refused, he said, he would kill her. She jumped through a window and ran into a neighbor's house. Cundiff went into the yard, looked about for a brief time, re-entered the house and shot himself.

No effort was made to attain speed, in either of these earlier attempts, and air officers on the ground noted several times indications that the big De Havilland plane in which the trials were made had been throttled down to conserve gasoline as much as possible, the two flyers seeking marks for duration rather than speed.

However, owing to structural peculiarities of the plane, the average speed for the second attempt reached 84.73 miles an hour, and this rate as against the approximate 72 miles an hour made by the plane in which previous long-distance records had been set, caused two new records to fall to Smith and Richter—those for 2500 and 3000 kilometers.

Kelley-MacReady Records Broken.

The new marks were 18 hours 15 minutes 8.1-5 seconds for the 2500-kilometer distance, as against a record of 21 hours 37 minutes 3 seconds, and 22 hours 3 minutes 41.3-5 seconds, against an old mark of 26 hours 1 minute 32 seconds.

Both the old records were held by Lieuts. Kelley and John MacReady.

Early on the morning of June 29 for developed, causing the flyers to shift from the official 50-kilometer triangular course to a smaller one, and a little later a fuel line clogged, preventing them from using the contents of a reserve tank, and as their tank was emptying, some slight burning from the gasoline, which had become ignited, and Smith escaped and Frank Seifert, who had manned the supply plane in all its previous contacts, took it up again to deliver more fuel. The fog made contact difficult, but after several attempts the hose was passed down to the record-seeking flyers and about 15 gallons of gasoline delivered before the planes were forced to pull apart.

After that Smith and Richter had further trouble, and decided to land. They became lost in the fog, and, in seeking the landing field, flew so close to the ground they narrowly missed striking a pylon at a turn of their course, and actually flew between two of the buildings at Rockwell Field.

They landed in the mud flats off North Island, and the plane turned over. Richter suffered some slight burns from the gasoline, which had become ignited, and Smith escaped and Frank Seifert, who had manned

WALSH CHEMICAL CO. DENIED STOCK PERMIT

"Blue Sky" Official Decides Concern Is Too Closely Allied With R. W. Adams & Co.

The Walsh Chemical Co. of 1410 Pine street, organized to manufacture cosmetics, particularly a facial cream, today was denied a permit by R. T. Hurwitz, Deputy State Finance Commissioner in charge of the "blue sky" division, to sell $25,000 of its authorized capital stock of $100,000.

In denying the permit Hurwitz declared that investigation indicated the affairs of the Walsh company were "hopelessly interwoven" with the business of R. W. Adams & Co., a stock and bond concern, which was thrown into receivership recently by the State Finance Commissioner. Attorneys searching for assets of that company found the bank balance, representing cash on hand, totaled $11.75.

How Firms Are Interwoven.

In a letter to the Walsh company Hurwitz pointed out that it had given the Adams company a contract carrying the exclusive right to sell the Walsh stock at a 15 per cent commission. He recalled that the department had found the Adams company a "persistent violator" of the State "blue-sky" law.

Going further into this connection, Hurwitz referred to the fact that R. W. Adams was vice president of the Walsh company, that A. G. Kirschbaum, who had been a salesman in the Adams office, was secretary of the Walsh company, and that Miss Margaret Walsh, president of the Walsh company, until recently was an employee in Adams' office.

Adams conducted the stock and bond business in the Tower Building under the name of R. W. Adams & Co. Miss Walsh recently stated to a Post-Dispatch reporter that she organized the company and that Adams had no connection except as fiscal agent. The application for the permit to sell the stock shows R. W. Adams as vice-president.

Effect of Application.

The application of the Walsh company for a permit to sell its stock had the effect, Hurwitz stated, of asking the Finance Department to sanction prior activities which were a violation of the Missouri securities act, and the former securities act which it superseded. The Adams company had been operating without a dealer's permit, it was said, and numerous sales of Walsh stock, which was not listed, have been reported.

Complaints to the Better Business Bureau of St. Louis concerning Adams company transactions, in which Walsh stock figured, led to an investigation which resulted in denial of the Adams company application for a permit, and later the receivership.

Nearly a score of complaints were received by the bureau. Several persons said they had agreed to buy established and listed securities from the Adams company on an installment payment plan, after being solicited by salesmen over the telephone.

Complaints of Investors.

Before the payments were completed on the listed stocks, it was said, efforts were made by salesmen to have the buyers authorize closing out those stocks and divert the proceeds to stock of the Walsh company. Some who followed this advice declared they were dissatisfied with the results. Others who refused to divert their orders declared they had difficulty getting delivery of the listed stocks when payment was completed.

The complaints filed with the Better Business Bureau involve deals in which the buyers state they were persuaded to exchange purchases of various listed securities for Walsh stock totaling more than 1,000 shares. Well-furnished offices were opened several weeks ago for the Walsh company on the second floor of a building at 1410 Pine street. In the rear of the office is a large room, designed for the factory, finished throughout in white enamel, but no manufacturing was in progress there. Miss Walsh said work would not be started until arrival of machinery. The company was organized March 28 last, with an authorized capital stock of $100,000. Its application to the Finance Department for stock assets included $100,000 cash, $150 in equipment, and formulas for cosmetics that were said to have a value of $49,100. Stock was to be sold at $5 a share.

YOUTH KILLS GANGSTER WHO "HOUNDED" HIM

Shoots Gunman as He Flouts New York Police at Court Door.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—A youth with a gun took the law out of the hands of the New York police yesterday and shot a dramatic finish to the career of Jack Kaplan, alias "Kid Dropper," gunman and leader of the East Side "Dropper gang."

The gangster chief, on whom the police had been trying to fasten something for months, swaggered at noon from Essex Market Court, where he had just defeated the latest effort to connect him with the shooting of two members of a rival gang. Some of the detectives served him with a warrant charging violation of the Sullivan anti-pistol law.

He smiled ironically and stepped to the taxi cab in which his captors planned to take him to another court. A slim figure which had been lurking behind the cab drew a pistol and fired through the back window of the cab.

Kaplan slumped down in his seat with two bullets in his head. The taxi cab driver was laid out with a scalp wound. Detective Captain Williams' hat was pierced by another shot.

Kaplan's assailant turned to flee, but detectives overpowered him. He and Kaplan were taken into the court building. Kaplan died a few minutes later at Bellevue Hospital.

His assailant, who said he was Louis Cohen, a laundry worker, 21 years old, said: "An eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth. If I hadn't gotten him he'd have gotten me. He told me so. He's been hounding me for a long time."

MERCHANTS HOME BOMBED

Section of Wall Blown Down but Family Is Unhurt.

A bomb on the front porch of the home of Nick Acquaviva, Granite City Italian merchant, at 32:30 A. M. today, blew in a section of the front wall of the house, including a door and window, with damage estimated by police at $1000.

Acquaviva and his wife had retired 20 minutes before in the front room. He told police he was awakened by a noise which he thought was thunder until, no great time later, the wall fell in. No one was injured. Three children slept in another room. Acquaviva said he had not thought he had any enemies.

REPORTS PIANO VANISHED

Owner Says an Expert Took It to Put on Piano Attachment.

Harry Schulte of Ferguson has asked police to help him find his piano. In April last when he moved from 4588 Carter avenue, he said, he entrusted the piano to an expert on Third street to have a player attachment put on. The expert collected $100 as part payment on the work in May and has not been heard from since. At the piano shop the place was found closed.

The police have received a half dozen similar complaints.

"TREASURE BOX A HOAX"

Maryland Laborer Says He Merely Fooled His Companions.

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Aug. 23.—Lee Houser, laborer, who last Thursday claimed to have discovered a box containing over $100,000 in gold and bills while working on a road near here, last night declared the story was a hoax.

One of Houser's fellow workmen declares he saw a coin and the box. Houser now says he took a coin from his pocket and threw it to the ground, causing the report to be circulated that he had found a fortune.

CONSTIPATION SUFFERERS OFTEN HAVE HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

Science has now a method of relieving both ills at once.

There is a very close connection between high blood pressure and constipation. If you suffer from constipation you are more than likely, science says, to become one of the victims of high blood pressure.

The well-known physician whose prescription, embodied in the Bi-Lin tablet, has relieved so many cases of high blood pressure, says: "People are surprised and delighted to find that Bi-Lin not only reduces their blood pressure immediately but literally brings back natural youthful bowel action."

This being so it is little wonder that the distressing symptoms of constipation and liver troubles vanish also.

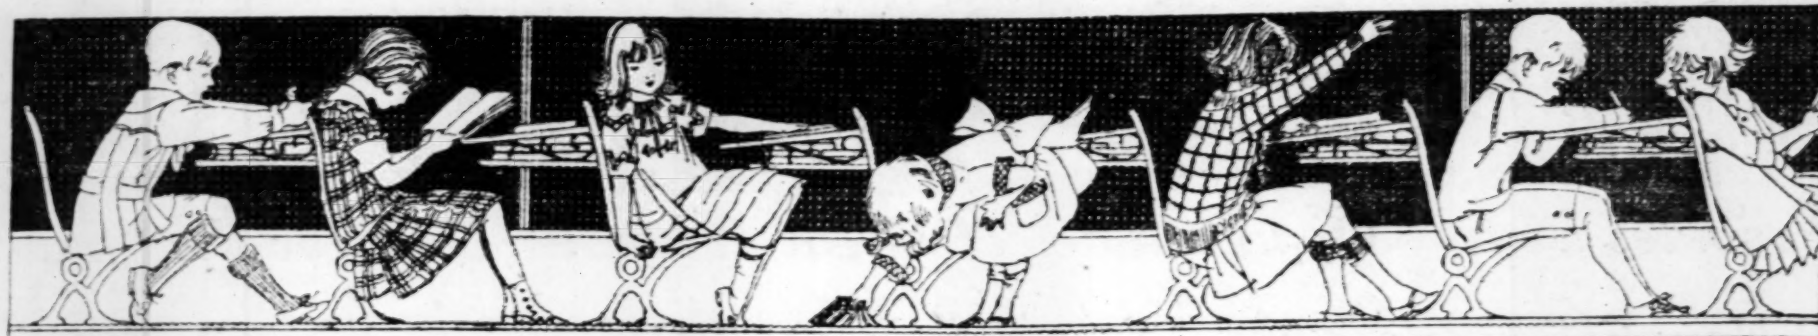

Right away Bi-Lin lets you bid goodbye to dizzy spells, headaches, shortness of breath, heart palpitation, indigestion, and ringing in the ears, and welcome that feeling of good nature and serenity which is the sign of a happy, healthful body.

Reduce your blood pressure with Bi-Lin at once. It is absolutely harmless, tested over many years, and you have a guarantee of real relief from the first bottle or your money will be returned. You can get Bi-Lin at such good druggists as Ederle Drug Co., Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., Dodge & Delph, Johnson Bros.

Looking Schoolward

See Tommy down in the center of the page—he's going to be late for school, get a tardy mark n'everything, but there's one thing sure—you can just guess, that Tommy's saying to himself, "Gee willikins, I'm not going to wait until the last minute again, I'm going to start in plenty of time."

There's a lesson in Tommy's philosophy for every mother with school-going children—not to wait until the last minute to outfit them but to start now assembling their school wardrobes.

At Vandervoort's, it's easy for mothers to accomplish this by choosing from the comprehensive displays of attractive and serviceable school apparel.

To choose now all that the children will need up to Christmas is the best way. It means more attractively dressed youngsters and a saving of time and trouble for their mothers. Values are noteworthy, a result of our effort to make this a genuine buying opportunity.

STRIKE AGAIN HAMPER'S CITY'S CARE OF WARDS

Men Installing Bathing and Sanitary Facilities at Sanatorium Quit.

Another union labor dispute has arisen to hamper the city's care of its unfortunate wards. This time it is a strike of marble cutters and polishers, who quit work this morning at the city sanatorium, where additional bathing and sanitary facilities that have been urgently required there were being installed. The strike is in sympathy with a general strike of marble workers.

As has been told, work on improvement of Koch Hospital, for the tubercular, and the new Training School for the Feeble-Minded has been held up for months by a jurisdictional dispute between the carpenters and sheet metal workers' unions, although these additional buildings are urgently needed to relieve overcrowding of present facilities. This dispute hinges on the question of which union should install metal trim, consisting of metal doors, metal window frames and similar metal construction.

The police said the suicide theory was strengthened by discovery that on Friday Sutphen, who spent $75,000 a year in quest of pleasure in the white light district and lavished as

U. R. VALUATION APPEAL SERVED ON STATE COMMISSION

Order to Submit Record Said to Be in Conflict With One Obtained by City.
The Public Service Commission was served at Jefferson City today with a copy of the appeal filed Saturday by the United Railways Co. in St. Louis Circuit Court against its valuation of $21,751,348 on the railway property. The commission is ordered to submit its official record of the valuation proceedings to the St. Louis Circuit Court, before which it is to enter appearance by Sept. 25.
The commission recently was served with a similar order in the appeal filed by the city in Cole County Circuit Court at Jefferson City. As the commission has only one official copy of its record, it was said at its office today that the two orders appeared to be in conflict, and that the order of the Cole County Circuit Court, as it was received first, probably would be obeyed.
The appeal of the company, which desires a higher valuation for "making purposes, and that of the city, which desires a lower valuation, are steps toward getting a court decision, with the possibility that it will be carried to the United States Supreme Court.

500 COMING IN PLANES TO SEE THE RACES

Chief of Air Race Issues Order Which May Send 200 Aviators Here.
Permission to fly to St. Louis for the international air races, to be held here Oct. 1, 2 and 3, has been granted by Maj.-Gen. Mason M. Patrick, Chief of the Army Air Service, to all Army pilots at stations within the United States, whose duties at that time do not demand their presence elsewhere.
The order, it is estimated, will result in at least 200 army aviators attending the races, in addition to the 26 principals and 23 alternates, already nominated for the events in which the army will have entries. About 300 other planes of civilians are expected to fly here for the races, making an estimated total of 500. Arrangements have been made to park them at St. Louis Field and Scott Field.
The Huff-Daland Aero Corporation of Ogdensburg, N. Y., today entered its Petrol Model 4 Airplane in Events No. 1 and 4, with George B. Post as pilot. Event No. 1 is the On-To-St. Louis race for the Flying Club of St. Louis trophy, and Event No. 4 is for light commercial airplanes, for Aviation Country Club of Detroit trophy.

SHOT SON 'TO KEEP HIM FROM LIFE OF CRIME,' MOTHER SAYS

Chicago Woman Asserts Youth Had Refused to Help Support the Family.
By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—A mother lay today in a police cell sobbing. Meanwhile her 19-year-old son, critically wounded, was in a hospital not far away. She fired the shot that sent him there.
Mrs. Rosa Simiz, the mother, told the police yesterday after shooting Mezzo Simiz, her son, at their flat, that she had fired the shot "to keep him from a life of crime."
The boy, a high school graduate, she declared, had refused to get work and help support the family, as his father and younger sister were doing. When she reprimanded him, she said, he answered:
"All you want is money, money. If you want money so bad I will go out and steal it." Then, she said, she became obsessed with the fear that her son would become a criminal and shot him.
When the police arrived the son, shot through the neck, lay in his mother's arms, while she sobbed and tried to comfort him. At the hospital his condition was said to be critical.

PINCHOT IN PLACE TO MAKE STRONG BID FOR PRESIDENCY IF HE SETTLES COAL DISPUTE

Pennsylvania Governor, With Friendship of "Drys," Would Be Formidable Candidate, Administration Realizes.

By CHARLES G. ROSS.

Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—Talk of the political situation continues to be accompanied with speculation concerning the effect of a successful mediation in the anthracite dispute on Pinchot's political fortunes.

There is no doubt that if the former Bull Moose settles the trouble in the anthracite industry he will be in a formidable position from which to launch a campaign for the Republican presidential nomination. Equally, there is no doubt that the Coolidge administration is well aware of this fact.

Pinchot has several elements of strength. He is an Eastern man with a large reputation in the West on account of his unremitting fight for conservation. Only recently the conservation policies which Pinchot maintained in his famous row with Secretary of the Interior Bailew received new vindication at the hands of President Harding.

Pinchot has proved his ability as an administrator. He has won the "dry" by his stand for enforcement of the Volstead act in Pennsylvania. Altogether, he must be reckoned a strong potential candidate if he keeps the threatened coal strike.

Remarks at White House.

These considerations led interest in remarks made at the White House yesterday about the coal situation.

Attention was called to decisions of the Supreme Court that the taking of coal out of the ground is an intra-state, not an inter-State, function.

It was said that the Federal Government was bringing every possible power to bear to avert an anthracite shutdown, and that this effort was being supplemented by a State effort along the same lines.

Gov. Pinchot's course was approved. He was declared to be of aid to public commendation for his "co-operation."

It seemed to be a justifiable inference that the friends of Mr. Coolidge were rather anxious that Gov. Pinchot should be regarded by the public as a "co-operator" with the Federal Government rather than the regulator of an independent effort to settle in which the Government had to get results.

At the same time the White House spokesman deprecated excessive political speculation at this time. That is something, he said, that could wait until the settlement of the coal strike. What the country needed now, he continued, was reassurance that things were going along on a pretty even keel—that there was going to be no violent wrench in the Government's machinery.

No Shakeup Contemplated.

There was also a word to calm the fears that came to many Government workers with a change of administration. It was made plain that the President is not contemplating any shakeup in the service.

Questions brought out the following items relating to various matters:

Shipping Board.—The President has asked the board to work out in greater detail its new plan for Government operation of the Navy.

Pinchot's political fortunes.

There is no doubt that if the former Bull Moose settles the trouble in the anthracite industry he will be in a formidable position from which to launch a campaign for the Republican presidential nomination. Equally, there is no doubt that the Coolidge administration is well aware of this fact.

Pinchot has several elements of strength. He is an Eastern man with a large reputation in the West on account of his unremitting fight for conservation. Only recently the conservation policies which Pinchot maintained in his famous row with Secretary of the Interior Bailew received new vindication at the hands of President Harding.

RAPID INCREASE IN CRIME IN U. S. SHOWN BY REPORT

American Bar Association Committee Urges Standard Code of Criminal Procedure for All States.

85,000 HOMICIDES IN NATION SINCE 1910

Data on Trials in England and France Show This Country at Decided Disadvantage.

By the Associated Press.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Aug. 29.—Disclosures of the extent and rapid increase of crime in the United States were submitted before the American Bar Association yesterday by a Special Committee on Law Enforcement, which urged that the whole code of criminal practice in the 48 states of the Union be rewritten so that the arm of the law might become swift, sure, constant and, on occasion, merciful.

Data on numbers of crimes, methods of trial and treatment of prisoners in England and France were cited, in comparison with which this country showed to a decided disadvantage.

The blame was laid partly upon the structure of the law and the manner in which our courts function, but principally the increase of crimes and criminals was attributed to "the apathy and indifference of the American people" toward law enforcement.

"Terrible failures of justice have occurred in all parts of the country," said the committee. "Truth still eludes the Chief Justice Taft's statements that the administration of criminal law in the United States is a disgrace to civilization. The trial of a criminal seems like a game of chance, with all the chances in favor of the criminal, and, if he escapes, he seems to have the sympathy of a spring public."

Members of Committee.

Charles S. Whitman, former Governor of New York, is chairman of the committee, which includes Mr. J. Edgar Hoover, Charles W. Farnham, Wade H. Ellis and Annette Abbott Adams. Besides conclusions drawn from personal observation as emphasized by the American Bar Association, they gathered an immense amount of statistics on crime not available from the census. Three members of the committee made a study of the criminal courts in England and France—forms of indictment, trial and sentence—stating through whole murder trials and hearings of appeal, and inspecting penal institutions.

Lawyer was discovered in Berlin because, after her disillusionment in Russia, she has withdrawn from all anti-government activities.

When she went to Bavaria with her niece, however, the authorities denounced her as a "bolshevik" and ordered her immediate return to Berlin with her niece. The charge is ironical as Miss Goldman is now one of the bitterest enemies of the bolsheviks.

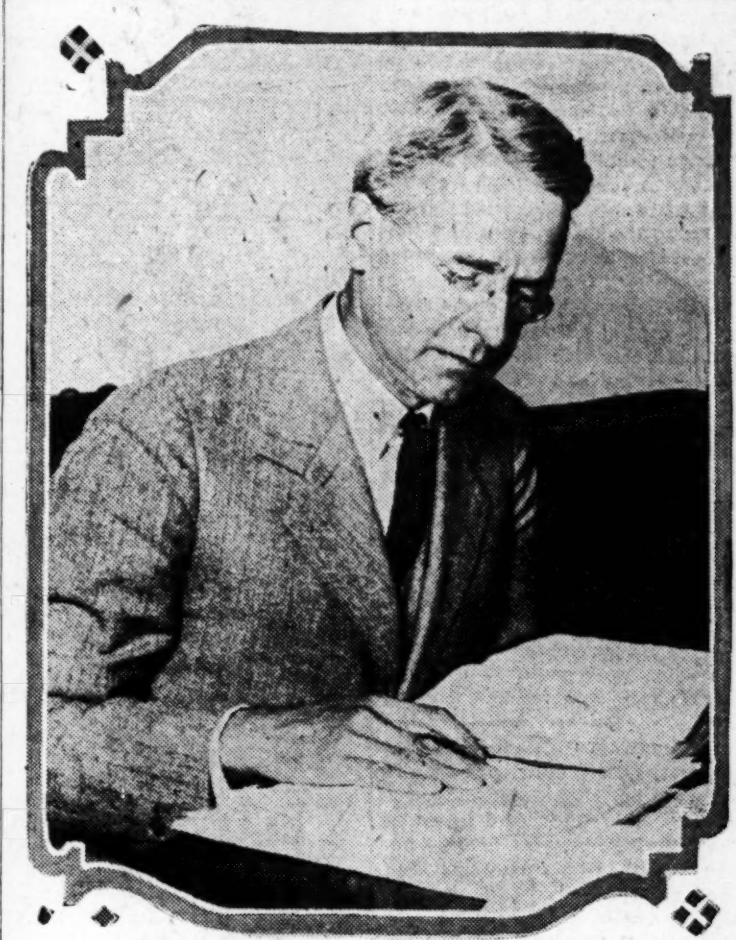

Protests of the Bavarian physicians as to the condition of Miss Ballantine were unavailing, however, and she was compelled to leave. Both are now back in Berlin, the girl still unharmed.

Having rid themselves of these dangerous "bolsheviks," the Bavarian Studio of the Moscow Art Theater in Munich planned to cause a "red revolt" by producing some fourteen plays in a new city, where the Munich police forbade the production and expelled the players from the city.

be more adequately represented than at present, with six out of 34 Senators and 19 out of 150 Representatives.

The major opposition to submitting the plan is based on a fear that a fight against it might also jeopardize other work of the convention. Then, too, a few of the more conservative Democrats and Republicans both want to retain the county as one unit of representation in the house.

Rewriting the New Testament in Language and Idioms of Today

DR. EDGAR J. GOODSPEED.

Dr. Goodspeed, who is a member of the ancient languages faculty of Chicago University, contends that the St. James version of the New Testament is in an out-of-date language, that it is difficult for the people of today to read and understand. So he is rewriting it, making its characters speak like "everyday people." Women buy pounds of things with dollars and cents, grain is measured by the bushel, dimensions by feet and inches, children start in life by being born instead of being begot and policemen instead of centurions keep order.

6790 cases of manslaughter and other unlawful killings, totaling 14,640 unjustifiable homicides.

England is severe in punishing murderers. The death penalty often is imposed, although prison sentences usually are brief compared to ours. In France, where crime is less severely punished, murder is more frequent.

Capital Punishment.

Eight states of the Union have abolished capital punishment. In five others it had been outlawed, but now is reinstated. Thus there were 92 executions in this country in 1919.

"But to prove that, our failure to inflict the death penalty did not proceed from an excess of tenderness," the committee points out, "we successfully put over 83 largely attended lynchings."

Jurists visiting English and French courts, on behalf of the American Bar Association, reported several commendable features in each. Justice was expedited. A criminal was tried, convicted and punished, while details of his crime were still fresh in the minds of the public, and the "horrible example" theory of punishment was therefore effective. This country is notorious for its long-drawn-out prosecutions, says the committee. Two or three years elapse between the crime and the execution of the sentence. The verdict judgment forms merely the preliminary skirmish.

Recommendations Made.

Discussing the prospect of speeding the trial of prisoners in the United States, of eliminating the disappearance of witnesses, falsification of defenses and loss of testimony, the committee concludes:

"The first great work to be accomplished in bringing about a better enforcement of law must be the awakening of the public to a clear right of their responsibility for it. Improvement in our laws can accomplish little unless accompanied by a determination on the part of our citizens to have those laws enforced."

"We recommend that a permanent commission of this association be appointed to formulate a standard code of criminal procedure for the states of the Union. It is of first importance that such committee be composed of men who have had large practical experience in the criminal courts, and especially of lawyers who want damage suit business. Usually this last influence has worked under cover, but now and then it has come out in the open when it appeared that possibly the federation was about to win."

The principal object of the conference next month is to endeavor to draft a bill which will satisfy all of the crafts, especially the St. Louis and Kansas City groups which have opposed previous proposed compensation acts. It is expected that 30 or 40 delegates will attend the conference, which will double in size as a basis for its deliberations on two measures which got a far as referendum.

Compromise Measure Defeated.

In the legislative session of 1921, the Federation and the Associated Industries of Missouri, representing employers, worked in harmony, having agreed on a bill which did not wholly suit either but which was a compromise between the extreme views of labor, on the one hand, and of employers, on the other. This measure was defeated in a referendum at the last election.

BAR HEAD OPPOSES CURTAILING POWER OF SUPREME COURT

John W. Davis Declares More Than Majority Vote for Decision Would Place Control With Minority.

URGES THAT U. S. JOIN WORLD COURT

Advocates That Congress Be Sworn In Immediately Upon Its Election—For Wider Veto Power.

By the Associated Press.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Aug. 29.—Opposition to any curtailment of the powers of the United States Supreme Court was expressed by John W. Davis of New York, in his address as president of the American Bar Association, at the opening of its forty-sixth annual convention here today.

In addition to this stand, which applies to decisions involving constitutionality of congressional enactments as well as departure from five-to-four decisions, the association's president also advocated the following:

Congress should come into being immediately upon its election, and the President and Vice President should be inaugurated without any unnecessary lapse of time.

Appointment under congressional authority of an expert commission to codify the Federal statutes.

Adoption of a constitutional amendment permitting the President of the United States to veto specific items in an appropriation bill.

Ratification of treaties with foreign countries by the Senate by a majority vote, instead of the two-thirds vote now required.

Submission of constitutional amendments directly to the people of the several states or to the Legislatures of the several states, and not before the amendment has been proposed.

Mr. Davis repeated the hope expressed in an association's resolution last year, that "the way may be found by which the Government of the United States may avail itself of the Permanent Court of International Justice."

Defends Powers of Court.

The address of Davis was preceded by the reports of Thomas W. Kemp of Baltimore, secretary, and Fred E. Wadham, Albany, N. Y., treasurer, and was followed by nominations for the general council.

This afternoon the association will meet in joint session with the Minnesota Bar Association, to listen to addresses by Pierce Butler, Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court, and Lord Chancellor of Great Britain, will address the convention.

Referring to the suggestions for curtailing the power of the Supreme Court in passing on acts of Congress, President Davis asked if "wrong judgments are rendered by the Supreme Court, are less open to redress than those of which he may suffer from courts or sheriffs, or military tyrants or civilian enemies?"

"If this be so," he continued, "in any such case the ears of the court are to be closed against him. It is not the power of the court that has been reduced by the death blow right of the citizen which is taken away."

Dissenting Opinions Far Distasteful.

He declared that to require more than a majority vote to make a decision effective would be to place the majority of any court, should be accompanied at the moment of delivery by an effort to prove its manifest error.

Pointing to "the practical impossibility of a unified party control over two-thirds of the Senate," in discussing the proposal for ratification of treaties by a majority vote, Davis declared, "no large a vessel as the United States is unseafaring on the high seas unless it can answer to the helm."

Would Extend Veto Authority.

"It is not easy to see, either in principle or in policy," he continued, "why one man who votes no should be ipso facto considered twice as well informed and weighty as one of his colleagues who votes yes."

Granting to the President of the United States authority to veto individual items of an appropriation bill would concentrate the responsibility for income and outgo in much greater degree than at present, the speaker said. The present system, he contended, "has done more than any

UNIONS THREATEN FIGHT ON CODE CONVENTION FINDINGS UNLESS DEMANDS ARE MET

Recommendations for Abridgment of Primary System and Extension of Governor's Powers Opposed—Safeguarding of Initiative Laws Wanted.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 29.—Organized labor will fight all of the recommendations of the Constitutional Convention, unless that body recedes from three of the positions it has taken, legislative representatives of the State Federation of Labor and the railroad brotherhoods indicated here today. The trades unionists bitterly oppose the decision of the convention to abridge the present primary system of nominating candidates for State offices. They also wanted the convention to recommend that the Legislature be prohibited from repealing any statute enacted by initiative petition, which it did not do. And they decry the granting of additional powers to the Governor, which they interpret as arming that official with the machinery to interfere in strikes.

Union Lobby Members.

This position was defined by R. T. Wood, of Springfield, president of the State Federation, and R. E. Nolan, of St. Louis, legislative agent of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen. The union lobby at the convention also includes H. S. Kratzinger of St. Joseph, of the Brotherhood of Railway Conductors, and from time to time, C. N. Lindquist of St. Louis, of the Brotherhood of Railway Engineers; William Wheeling of St. Louis, of the railway trainmen; Walter Simpson of Beaver of the Executive Committee of the State Federation, and S. H. Williams of Springfield, of the trainmen.

They do not carry in their pockets the sentiments of the thousands of members of trades unions throughout the State and the convictions they express are not the considered judgment of the mass of unionists. Their position, however, is that which will be recommended to all of the unions in a formal report, of objections to the convention proceedings and its findings, which report will be made by the joint committee which has been maintained here throughout the 11 months the convention has been in session.

Weight of Recommendations.

Observation of the methods of the unions in political campaigns and the results of their efforts has taught, however, that in so far as any large group can be controlled by its leaders, recommendations of committees, such as this Legislative Committee, determine to a considerable extent the trend of candidates for State office, the convention tentatively has decided in brief to recommend that partisan political Central Committees be allowed to decide whether candidates shall be chosen at primaries as at present, or by delegate conventions. The argument was made that this would provide a flexible system, allowing the use of the convention of candidates which is regarded as the best method of public approval, but would permit a ready avenue of reaction to a public demand for reversion to primaries, should the conventions throw about to anything approaching the old-time conditions which resulted in adoption of the present primary statute.

Reason for Opposition.

Their inability to control conventions is the main reason ascribed by unionists for opposing any interference with the primary, in which by the close control of candidates which is now, labor leaders have been able to take a large share in dictating the nomination of candidates who had complied with conditions laid down by the unionists as the price of their approval.

"In order to do anything with a

Two Addresses by Taft.

Two addresses by William Howard Taft, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, and a number of sectional meetings yesterday were preliminary features to the meeting of the convention.

In both addresses, one before the conference of American bar delegates and the other at the closing session of the Minnesota Bar Association's convention, the Chief Justice urged the necessity for simplification of laws.

There is a tendency in the nation to regard the judiciary in lighter esteem than formerly, the Chief Justice told the state bar meeting, and this he ascribed to the small-like pace of justice, "which discourages and really wears out the man of small means."

George W. Wickersham, Attorney-General in the Taft Cabinet told of progress made by the American Institute of Law, a national organization, backed by eminent jurists in seeking "to clarify, simplify and better adapt to the needs of life the common law—the law that has been and is being developed by the decisions of the courts, as distinguished from the statute law."

Talk on Divorce Laws.

"Moral chaos and ruin" race the United States unless there is standardization of the laws controlling marriage and divorce, Mrs. E. Jean Nelson Penfield, practicing attorney of New York, told the National Association of Women Lawyers last night.

The "subtle menace of unrestrained divorce" and "our lax and varying marriage laws," she declared "largely give the divorce courts and directly give the white slave dealer the most effective opportunities to ply his iniquitous trade."

Urging the need of Federal laws to govern marriage and divorce, Mrs. Penfield said, "the trouble with depending upon State action is that we could never be sure from one day to another what local bars might be let down."

Mrs. Penfield declared that in the past half century divorce has increased in the United States one and one-half times as fast as the population, and is seven times higher than in Europe.

Pierce Butler, Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court, was elected head of the judicial section of the American Bar Association last night, succeeding Judge John B. Briscoe of the Circuit Court of Appeals of Maryland.

CODE CONVENTION VOTES TO CUT LEGISLATURE

Adopts Ford Plan, Providing for 21 Senators and 63 Representatives.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 29.—A Constitutional Convention, by a vote of 14 to 27, this morning adopted a proposal submitted by M. E. Ford, Democrat, of Maryville, to reduce the membership of the Legislature from 34 Senators and 150 Representatives to 21 Senators and 63 Representatives.

The plan was sent to the Committee on Phraseology, preparatory to being engrossed.

The Ford plan was approved late yesterday as a substitute for the report of the Committee on Senatorial Representative Redistricting, by a vote of 37 to 30. Twenty-eight Republicans and 23 Democrats voted in the negative.

A. T. Dumm of Jefferson City and W. W. Martin of Fayette, in the absence of State Senator Frank H. Harris, chairman of the Democratic State Committee, led the opposition to the plan. A motion to reconsider adoption of the plan, made by B. H. Dyer, Republican, of St. Charles, was defeated, 19 to 14.

The plan provides for a division of the State into 21 Assembly districts, with one Senator and three Representatives from each, and there are 34 senatorial districts, with one Senator and three Representatives from each, while representatives are elected by counties, with one each in every county, and additional representatives for the larger counties, according to population.

The districts, under Ford's plan, would be created by a board composed of the five major elective State officers in 1925, and after each succeeding decennial census. The county would be permitted to have more than four districts, which is a move directed toward Kansas City and St. Louis, to prevent domination of either house by the cities.

Should St. Louis have four Senators and 19 Representatives in the proposed Legislature, however, it would

EMMA GOLDMAN IS EXPELLED BY BAVARIANS

She Is Looked On as "Bolshevik," Although She Is Enemy of Soviet.

BERLIN, Aug. 29.—Bavaria has started on an anti-Russian campaign. The latest victims are Emma Goldman, her niece, Miss Stella Ballantine and the Moscow Art Theater. Miss Ballantine recently came from America to consult Bavarian physicians regarding tuberculosis of the eye. Miss Goldman has been tolerated in Berlin because, after her disillusionment in Russia, she has withdrawn from all anti-government activities.

When she went to Bavaria with her niece, however, the authorities denounced her as a "bolshevik" and ordered her immediate return to Berlin with her niece. The charge is ironical as Miss Goldman is now one of the bitterest enemies of the bolsheviks.

Protests of the Bavarian physicians as to the condition of Miss Ballantine were unavailing, however, and she was compelled to leave. Both are now back in Berlin, the girl still unharmed.

be more adequately represented than at present, with six out of 34 Senators and 19 out of 150 Representatives.

The major opposition to submitting the plan is based on a fear that a fight against it might also jeopardize other work of the convention. Then, too, a few of the more conservative Democrats and Republicans both want to retain the county as one unit of representation in the house.

On information furnished by police and court clerks in 48 principal cities of as many states, it was estimated that "while the general population of the country from the year 1910 until 1922 has increased 14.9 per cent the criminal population has increased 16.6 per cent." It was ascertained further that "the growth of crime was steady and almost regular up to our entrance into the World War; during the war crime decreased greatly, but upon the resumption of peace criminals resumed their depredations with increased activity all over the country."

In 1921, for instance, "there were 9500 homicides as compared with 9000 in 1920. In no year during the last 10 did the number fall below 8500. In other words, since 1910 no less than $5,000 of our citizens have been killed by poison, the pistol, the knife or other unlawful and deadly injury."

As compared with England and France:

In the last year for which facts were available, there were 63 murders in England and 15 in Wales.

In the 48 American cities there live one-fifth of the population there were 1562 murders.

Comparison With London.

In London there were 17 murders in 1921, as compared with 15 in 1920. Among the 48 American cities, Scotland Yard ended the year with none of them "unsolved." During the same period Chicago had 137 recorded murders, and New York 260—the latter city chaining three convictions.

The annual homicide rate per 100,000 population in Hartford, Conn., is 14. It is 5.6 in Memphis, Tenn.

The largest proportionate ratio of crime is in our cities of less than 200,000 population," says the committee. "It therefore may be conservatively estimated that in this republic last year there occurred 7850 murders. To these may be added

HARVEY'S RETENTION AT COURT OF ST. JAMES IS INFERRED

London Report That He Is to Be Superseded Is Denied at Washington.

SPECIAL TO THE POST-DISPATCH.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—At the White House yesterday it was announced that George Harvey, Ambassador to Great Britain, has engaged passage on the Leviathan and will sail Sept. 8 to resume his duties at London.

This formal announcement was construed as disposing entirely of the London report that Joseph C. Grew, Minister to Switzerland, will be appointed Ambassador to Great Britain.

Inquiry in administration quarters indicated that the London report is the first intimation officials have received that Grew is being considered for the London post, assuming that Col. Harvey will not remain long as Ambassador.

A political cartoon by Alfred Leete. It depicts a woman, representing 'HUMANITY', with her name written on her dress, reaching out from a dark, turbulent sea. She is looking down at a man lying on the ground. The man is wearing a top hat, a white shirt with a bow tie, and striped trousers. He is holding a small object in his hand, possibly a cigarette or a pipe. The man's expression is one of indifference or perhaps a slight smile. The background is a dark, textured area representing the sea or a dark landscape. The cartoon is signed 'ALFRED LEE' at the bottom.

LEGION HEAD SPEAKS PLAINLY TO FRENCH

"We Ask That No Territorial Aggrandizement Be in Your Mind," Owsley Says.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Aug. 29.—The official reception for the entire American Legion delegation yesterday by Marcel Héraud, wounded veteran of Verdun, who is vice president of the City Council, supplied an occasion for the most outspoken remarks made by Col. Alvin Owsley, National Commander of the American Legion, since he came to France with a delegation of legionnaires to attend the conference of the Inter-Ally Veterans at Brussels next month.

A short time before Col. Owsley made his brief response to M. Héraud he was notified that he had been appointed a commander of the Legion of Honor and that the decoration officially would be conferred on him by Gen. Degoutte, the French commander of occupied Germany, at Tusseldorf, on Thursday, in military fashion.

"The American Legion, whose national commander I have the honor to be, and for whom it is my distinction to speak, representing 4,000,000 or more soldiers and sailors, the legion chief in reply to the welcome from M. Héraud, 'is the one great standing American organization that has declared before the world that it stands with and approves the action of France and Belgium.'

"Believe France Is Right."
"We believe France is right in occupying the Ruhr that it may obtain payment of its debt long since overdue. I have come to France at this particular time to get first hand information concerning your situation, particularly about that vexing problem—the occupation of the Ruhr."

"We have faith in the expression uttered so lately by your distinguished Premier, M. Poincaré," continued Col. Owsley, "that France does not desire to occupy any territory belonging to other people except to obtain reparation from our recent enemies. We feel France will make good her pledge and that as the Germans actually fulfill their undertakings on reparations the armies of France will be removed from Germany."

"I should not be true to you or to myself if I did not speak plainly and frankly. Of you French we ask that no thought of territorial aggrandizement be in your mind, but we would not desire that France be left defenseless before those who would seek to invade her again. But you must sustain your friends in the United States by giving your enemies no opportunity to question your motives."

The vice president of the City Council welcomed the delegation. This was the last official function for the delegation in France.

Owsley's Rapid Rise.
Col. Owsley's rise in the Legion of Honor is one of the most rapid in memory, as he was nominated immediately to be commander without having passed through the lower grades of knight and officer. The French Government felt that nothing but the rank of commander was commensurate with the plane that the commander-in-chief of the Legion holds in American public life. The announcement was made to Col. Owsley in the Eiffel Tower restaurant which overlooks Paris.

"Cheers from the citizens on Paris, were they aware of your presence here, would be heard above the din of the city 300 feet in the air at this spot," Deputy Bertrand commented in prefacing his announcement. "I have not the power nor the authority to place the cravat of a commander of the Legion of Honor upon your shoulders, but by the delicate attention of my Government, it has been decided to remit the decoration by Gen. Degoutte in the midst of the Ruhr where we are carrying out our policy which you approve."

M. Bertrand then kissed Col. Owsley on both cheeks in true French fashion and an orchestra struck up the "Star Spangled Banner" and the "Marseillaise." Marshal Foch, who was unable to attend the luncheon, was represented by Capt. L'Hopital by whom he sent his latest autograph with a long dedication in the Marshal's hand.

Says He Struck in Self-Defense.
William Cosseman, 40 years old, of 1805 Michigan avenue, carpenter for the Missouri Pacific Railroad, was stabbed in the side and leg at 8:10 p. m. yesterday in a fight with Henry J. Wood, 58, of 3158 St. Vincent avenue, a pumper for the same railroad, in front of the Wood home. He was taken to the Missouri Pacific Hospital. Wood was arrested. He told Policemen Cosseman came to his home and abused him and his wife and when he attempted to put Cosseman out the latter kicked him and he used the knife in self-defense.

Woman Says Man Struck Her.
Mrs. Bertha Swanson, 75 years old, of 2331 Montgomery street, was found unconscious on the floor of the kitchen of her home at 5 p. m. yesterday, when her son, Samuel, returned home. She had a cut on the back of her head. The son told the police his mother was subject to fainting spells and he believed she had fallen. At the city hospital, when partly revived, Mrs. Swanson told policemen she had been "hit with a stick" by a man who invaded the home.

There is Danger in Crowded Cars —Lifebuoy Combats It

Mother is the Health Doctor

Mothers have made Health Soap their chief assistant in the fight against disease.

Lifebuoy enters new homes every day—and brings a new safety, a new kind of cleanliness, a new pleasure in keeping the skin immaculate.

Purify Your Hands and Face! Protect Your Health!

Tiny germs are attracted to the naturally oily surface of your skin in much the same manner that flies are attracted to sticky flypaper. They imbed themselves, they multiply and they gain entrance to the body and the blood stream at the first opportunity.

Millions of germs collect upon a scratch, a bruise, a cut; and in many cases infection sets in almost immediately.

Keep these germs off your skin with Lifebuoy Health Soap. That is the surest, safest, easiest way to combat them. Lifebuoy Health Soap not only protects—it is one of the most soothing soaps ever perfected—and wonderfully beneficial to the skin.

Keeps Skin Soft and Radiant

Its generous lather of the pure oils of palm fruit and coconut carries deep down into every pore a wonderful health ingredient which wakes up your skin and keeps it smooth, sweet and beautiful. For family health and for fresh, wholesome, healthy skin keep Lifebuoy wherever there is running water. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

EUROPEAN CROP REPORT SHOWS BIG HARVESTS

World Crop Shows 17 Per Cent Gain and Europe Has Produced a Surplus.
Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.
(Copyright, 1923, by the Press and Publishing Co., the New York World and the Post-Dispatch.)
ROME, Aug. 28.—The Ludin International Institute of Agriculture publishes a report on harvests of the world which discloses a crop average of 40,000,000 quintals (4,000,000,000 pounds) above last year, or a 17 per cent increase. The Jugo-Slav and Czechoslovakian crops are not yet registered. The wheat increased 4.5 per cent, rye 20 per cent and barley 7 per cent. The entire North African cereal crops exceed that of last year by 56 per cent. Cotton crops in India are estimated as normal, while cotton in Egypt will be slightly less than normal.
Italy's cereal harvest of 54,000,000 quintals will cause a drop in Italian purchases from America of one-third. Last year the Government's budget was burdened with a charge of 3 1/2 milliard lire on grain purchases alone. A larger cultivation of sugar beets also will permit of a reduction of purchases of American sugar this year.
These predictions will hardly be comforting to the American farmer, but are hailed with much satisfaction by farmers here, who are beginning to talk of exporting foodstuffs on the pre-war scale in the coming agricultural year.

PISTOL FIGHT IN AN ELECTION NIGHT CROWD RESULTS IN DEATH

Three Other Men Wounded in Mississippi Town—One Man Detained, Another Sought.
By the Associated Press.
HATTIESBURG, Miss., Aug. 28.—A pistol fight in a crowd of several thousand men, women and children, massed in front of the Hattiesburg American office, listening to election returns, last night, resulted in the death of one man and the wounding of three others. An argument growing out of a divorce suit now pending in court here was said to have led to the altercation. Ben Patrick died of a bullet wound at a hospital. Rankin McCordle was dangerously wounded. H. W. Thomas and Junior Wade have less serious wounds.
Clifton McCordle is held in the county jail in connection with the affair, and another man, accused of firing one of the shots, is sought.

AMERICAN ONIONS, LETTUCE AND CELERY MAKE GOOD YIELD

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—There will be a plentiful crop of onions, celery and lettuce, according to a crop survey just completed by the Department of Agriculture.
The late estimate on the onion crop is placed at 12,643,000 bushels, which is 2 per cent less than the 1922 production, but 34 per cent larger than that in 1921. About 2,182,000 crates of late commercial celery, practically the same as last year's crop, are expected and 5,468,000 crates of late lettuce, compared with 3,693,000 crates in 1922 and 2,666,000 in 1921.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—There will be a plentiful crop of onions, celery and lettuce, according to a crop survey just completed by the Department of Agriculture.
The late estimate on the onion crop is placed at 12,643,000 bushels, which is 2 per cent less than the 1922 production, but 34 per cent larger than that in 1921. About 2,182,000 crates of late commercial celery, practically the same as last year's crop, are expected and 5,468,000 crates of late lettuce, compared with 3,693,000 crates in 1922 and 2,666,000 in 1921.

Firpo No Longer
Uses Right Hand
Like Blacksmith

One Week Has Overcome
Pounding Habit; Now Hits Straight, Observers Say.

By the Associated Press.
ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 29.—The heavyweight boxing title, long under the training program described by his South American friend, Felix Bunke, and carried to the letter by Horatio Lavalle,
the Argentine heavyweight star
today on his second week of training for his match with Jack Dempsey
in New York, Sept. 14. So development of a left-handed punch
and is breaking himself of the pounding, blacksmith's style right.

Firpo Hits Better With Right.
Four sparring mates have been the camp the first week. During the first few days they had what called a soft snap, but now the daily task is filled with punishment dealt with a left hand that former was never used. And the right is traveling—not in the pounding style—but short and straight from the shoulder and hooks.

While developing his punches,
Argentine has developed speed
in anything but a slow-moving style. Thus, his power of attack has increased considerably.

It is probable that he will continue on the same program for rest of the week and then give attention to defensive work. The
such a change in the program contemplated is indicated by the announcement that several men for their boxing skill are to be employed for the sparring.

Young Bob Fitzsimmons, heavy weight, and Phil Krug, a middle weight, are expected to join camp today or tomorrow.

clude steer wrestling, calf roping,
broncho busting and various other events.

Because this is true I keep

Johnny Stuart Scores His Sixth
Victory in Defeating Phillies; Bottomley's Hitting Aids Cards

Stuart Has Lost but Two Games Although He Has Participated in 29 — Only One Home-Run Hit in Bandbox Park.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 29.—Today's scheduled game between the Cardinals and Phillies was postponed because of rain.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 29.—Taking one consideration with another, Stuart and Sullivan used to do in the "Plates of Penzance," there was a rather remarkable game played here yesterday between the Cardinals and Phils. Actually, neither team went into double figures for runs total and there was only one homer during the engagement, by Williams didn't get that. Tierney, ex-Pirate, clouted one into the field in the opening frame.

The Cardinals won, 8-7, after Lou Stuart, Johnny Stuart's relief, had not put the Phils over. Lou Stuart, a very mediocre total of two frames and in those two frames he hit five hits. Moken, a pitcher, with three on and two out in the ninth, was polite enough to let a runner and let the fans
go home.

The victory brought Stuart's record
to six victories and two defeats.
He has participated in 29 games for the Cardinals this season, having acted as relief hurler on 23 occasions.

On the attack, the Cards must be considered weak for they only got a total of six hits, a very mediocre total for a team. A single Rickerson was deprived of the thrill that came with a base knock. Sunny Jim Bottomley driving out three and materially boosting his already phlegmatic average. No longer Bottomley a promising ball player,
he has arrived with a large and constant bang.

A See-Saw Battle.
A triple by Plack and singles by Stuart and Bottomley counted two for the Cards in the first and the Phil came back in their half with a run for Sand tripped, scored on a field out and then Tierney got the game's one and only homer.

Until the fifth, the score remained tied and then the Cards stepped into the lead with two tallies,
and then after two were down
and resultant from singles by Tierney, Mueller and Stock, the Cards' double. In the sixth,

Walker singled and was wild pitched to second. Lee hit to right, but Holke filed out, counting Walker from third. North let Henline single to prolong the game after which Moken, sent in to hit for Be-han, showed his manhood by forcing Henline and ending the well-known pastime.

Brooklyn didn't play and the Cardinals were enabled to gain a half game and stay in fifth place, an empty honor, mates.

PROMOTERS FAIL TO PRODUCE MONEY, GODFREY REFUSES TO ENTER RING

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—The 10-round
fight between George Godfrey, sparring partner of Jack Dempsey, and Clem Johnson, who claims the heavyweight championship of Mexico, failed to materialize last night when promoters found themselves unable to make a promised monetary settlement with Godfrey before he entered the ring. The preliminaries had been staged but Godfrey refused to fight until he had received his money. The promoters were unable to pay him
the amount agreed upon and the bout was canceled.

Jones Rated High.
Championship titles aside, Jones
has long been regarded by national
and foreign critics and by fellow
players as an almost perfect exponent of good form in golf and the
chain of adverse circumstances which
time and again have kept him from
attaining the throne has generally
been deprecated. If his victory in the open tour destroyed the jinx there
will be many to applaud the demise.

After Jones, the name of Jess
Sweetser as a candidate to succeed himself is most frequently heard.
The Yale man has been going strong
since his return to the country from England, and one may be fairly certain that he will not relinquish his
claim without a sturdy defense.

Outmet, the New Englander, hero
of the Walker Cup and English competitions may well jog in ahead of
both Jones and Sweetser and Chick Evans has plenty of ability where-
with to overturn the three.

Popular opinion awards the toga
to one of the four, and yet who can
say that Jesse Guifford, Bobby Garner or anyone of half a dozen outstanding stars may not capture the highest golfing honors. The zest of golf is so far as the spectator is concerned.

INTERNATIONAL POLO SCHEDULE CHANGED AT REQUEST OF BRITISH

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—Changes in
the dates of three important international polo events, all to take place
at the Meadowbrook Club, Westbury,
N. Y., were announced today by the Polo Association. In order to give the ponies of invading teams more time
in which to become acclimated.

The start of the series between
American and British Army teams
has been changed from Sept. 8 to Sept. 12. The second match will be played Sept. 15, and a third, if necessary, on Sept. 17.

The American open championship,
in which two British and one British Indian team are entered, originally to have begun Sept. 17, will
be held on Sept. 18, 19, 20 and 22.
Dates for the Monty Waterbury Cup
tournament, with eight foreign entries competing, have been advanced
to Sept. 24, 27 and 29.

The changes were made principally on account of the British Army
team, which felt that its mounts,
scheduled to arrive the last of this
week, would not have sufficient time
to be conditioned for matches as originally arranged.

COMSTOCK WINS TITLE
OF FASTEST MAN IN TEXAS ASSOCIATION

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
Comparatively, baseball interest
in smaller towns is generally greater than in the big cities. The fans
of the little cities are "hotter." They take a greater interest in the players personally, look upon them with
more civic pride and try to hook
them up in various events to prove their supremacy.

As an example, at Waco recently,
Manager "Speck" Comstock of the
Waco team was matched with Bobby
Cannon of Austin in a race to determine the fastest man in the Texas
Association. There had been a dispute over this question all season.
Fans in each town raised a purse of
over $500 and wagered against each
other on their "home" boys. Cannon
was a Texas track man, Comstock,
a Dallas boy, won the race and got
a share of his supporters' winnings. Now "Speck" is the pride
of Waco.

Last Night's Fights
BOSTON.—Frankie Genaro, American flyweight champion, received
the decision over Bobby Volgaist
of Philadelphia in a 10-round bout
and Volgaist paid a forfeit of $200
for a round over weight.

CINCINNATI.—Sammy Mandell,
Rockford (Ill.) lightweight, fought
10 rounds to a draw with K. O.
Mara of Cincinnati.

ATLANTA, Ga.—Al Benedict, New
York heavyweight, was knocked
out by Bob Roper, Atlanta, in the

Bobby Jones Now
Favorite to Win
National Amateur

However, History Shows at Least Half a Dozen Players
Have as Good a Chance.

By Lawrence Perry.
(Copyright, 1923.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—Indications are that quite a number of American women golf stars will cross the border to participate in the Royal Canadian Championship for women,
which will begin at Mount Bruno, Montreal, on Sept. 15, the day upon which the national amateur tournament begins at Flossmoor. It is said that a majority of the women who have taken commanding positions in American golf tournaments will be found at Montreal, where they will welcome the opportunity of difficult tournament play to put them on edge for the national women's championship, which will be held at Westchester, Baltimore at Rye, N. Y., the last of next month.

As for the national amateur for men, which is now beginning to loom before the public eye as the next great sporting event, one hears the name of Bobby Jones everywhere spoken of as the likeliest candidate for the title. Opinion of the sort is based upon the young Allentan's success in the national open, belief being that he needed but the moral support of a victory of the sort to come into his own as a consistent winner.

Jones Rated High.
Championship titles aside, Jones
has long been regarded by national
and foreign critics and by fellow
players as an almost perfect ex-
ponent of good form in golf and the
chain of adverse circumstances which
time and again have kept him from
attaining the throne has generally
been deprecated. If his victory in the
open tour destroyed the jinx there
will be many to applaud the demise.

After Jones, the name of Jess
Sweetser as a candidate to succeed himself is most frequently heard.
The Yale man has been going strong
since his return to the country from England, and one may be fairly certain that he will not relinquish his
claim without a sturdy defense.

Outmet, the New Englander, hero
of the Walker Cup and English competitions may well jog in ahead of
both Jones and Sweetser and Chick Evans has plenty of ability where-
with to overturn the three.

Popular opinion awards the toga
say that Jesse Guifford, Bobby Gar-
ner or anyone of half a dozen out-
standing stars may not capture the highest golfing honors. The zest of
golf is so far as the spectator is
concerned.

SCHEDULE CHANGED AT

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—Changes in
the dates of three important inter-
national polo events, all to take place
at the Meadowbrook Club, Westbury,
N. Y., were announced today by the Polo Association. In order to give the
ponies of invading teams more time
in which to become acclimated.

American and British Army teams
has been changed from Sept. 8 to Sept. 12. The second match will be played Sept. 15, and a third, if necessary, on Sept. 17.

The American open championship,
in which two British and one British Indian team are entered, originally to have begun Sept. 17, will
be held on Sept. 18, 19, 20 and 22.
Dates for the Monty Waterbury Cup
tournament, with eight foreign entries competing, have been advanced
to Sept. 24, 27 and 29.

The changes were made principal-
ly on account of the British Army
team, which felt that its mounts,
scheduled to arrive the last of this
to be conditioned for matches as
originally arranged.

COMSTOCK WINS TITLE
OF FASTEST MAN IN
TEXAS ASSOCIATION

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
Comparatively, baseball interest
in smaller towns is generally greater than in the big cities. The fans
of the little cities are "hotter." They
take a greater interest in the players personally, look upon them with
more civic pride and try to hook
them up in various events to prove
their supremacy.

Manager "Speck" Comstock of the
Waco team was matched with Bobby
Cannon of Austin in a race to determine the fastest man in the Texas
Association. There had been a dispute over this question all season.
Fans in each town raised a purse of
over $500 and wagered against each
other on their "home" boys. Cannon
was a Texas track man, Comstock,
a Dallas boy, won the race and got
a share of his supporters' winnings. Now "Speck" is the pride
of Waco.

Last Night's Fights
BOSTON.—Frankie Genaro, American flyweight champion, received
the decision over Bobby Volgaist
of Philadelphia in a 10-round bout
and Volgaist paid a forfeit of $200
for a round over weight.

CINCINNATI.—Sammy Mandell,
Rockford (Ill.) lightweight, fought
10 rounds to a draw with K. O.
Mara of Cincinnati.

ATLANTA, Ga.—Al Benedict, New
York heavyweight, was knocked
out by Bob Roper, Atlanta, in the third round of a scheduled 10-round fight.

FORT SNELLING, Minn.—Jimmy
Delaney, St. Paul, outpointed Chuck Wiggins, Indianapolis, in 19 rounds.

ANOTHER MEMBER OF HOLLOCHER FAMILY IS OUT OF THE LINEUP

A second member of the Hollocher
family is missing from his team lineup. Charlie, elder of two baseball playing brothers, is at home here convalescing from a stomach disorder which kept him out of the Chicago Cubs' lineup the greater part of this season.

Milton, who plays second base for Terre Haute of the Three-I League, has been out of the game since Aug.
21 when he suffered a broken finger on his right hand. It is probable that he will not get back into the game
this season.

Robert "Robby" Murphy, local senior and baseball player, has been sent to Terre Haute by Scout Jack Ryan of the Browns to take Hol-locher's place for the balance of the season. Terre Haute is in fourth place, 4½ games behind the league leaders. Deatur, Murphy had been playing with the Centralia (Ill.) club.

Arthur C. Granville, former star athlete at Christian Brothers College, died at the Mullamphy Hospital at 7:20 o'clock last night after a short illness, which followed his arrival in St. Louis Friday to spend his vacation with relatives. The body is now at an undertaking establishment at 2846 Lindell boulevard, but will be taken to Birmingham, Ala.,
tomorrow afternoon for burial.

Granville was forced to give up a promising baseball career nearly 20 years ago because of a weak heart and when he visited St. Louis a year ago he told friends that his old ailment had again attacked him.

Granville was one of the leading soccer and baseball players at Christian Brothers College in 1898, 1899
and 1900. He then took up professional baseball in the old Western Association and was to have received a major league trial as a third baseman when he was forced to retire.

in about 1905. He was 47 years old and is survived by his widow, Mrs.
Rose Starr Granville of Birmingham,
his mother and a brother.

What to Feed the Baby

After Weaning

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.,
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

ANY mothers write to me asking what kind of food should be given after the weaning of the baby.

It is too bad, for any reason whatever, to be forced to wean the baby until the heat of the summer and early fall have passed. If proper precautions are taken in the care of the food the time of year does not matter. Late September and early October are particularly favorable, because the nights are cool and the milk and other foods are less likely to spoil than they are in extremely hot weather.

It must be remembered that every food, everything given the baby must be absolutely fresh. There must not be the slightest suspicion of taint. Food cooked or prepared the day before is not the kind you want your baby to have.

Milk readily takes the flavor of other food in the icebox. This contamination may upset the delicate stomach of a tiny baby. On this account, no matter what may be the time of year, the baby's milk should be kept in a separate compartment of the refrigerator and right against the ice.

I assume that the breast-fed baby has been given orange juice, prune juice or possibly tomato juice, at least once a day. Continue this laudable practice when weaning is begun.

For the first few months there must be as many meals as there were feedings before weaning. Let us see if we can arrange a schedule.

Begin with orange, tomato or prune juice at 7:30 or 8 o'clock in the morning.

Half an hour later give the first meal. This will consist of a strained cereal—hominy, oatmeal or one of the fine-grained wheat cereals. Two tablespoonfuls of the cereal will be about right for a baby 10 months or a year old.

Eight ounces of milk should be supplied for this meal. Half of it can be added to the cereal and the balance is taken from a cup.

A little dry toast or zwieback completes the ingredients of what may be called breakfast.

At 10 o'clock, six or eight ounces of milk will make the second meal.

At 12 or 12:30 a cupful of broth, a tablespoonful of baked potato, with a little butter; a codded or soft-boiled egg and a piece of toast or zwieback, with four ounces of milk will make a pretty substantial midday meal.

It is well to vary this meal, omitting the egg every second day. It may be replaced by a small portion of strained vegetable, for instance peas or carrots, or by a custard.

The 3 o'clock meal is like the 10 o'clock and the 5:30 meal is like breakfast, with the addition of junket or blanc mange.

If the baby awakens at 8 o'clock or a little later, a drink of milk may be supplied.

Between meals give a drink of cooled, boiled water.

This diet is sufficient and can be continued for four or six months. Then more substantial food may be given.

A CONTINUED STORY

"Father, be careful!" she admonished. "You must not excite yourself."

"Bah!" He flung out his hand in a violent gesture. "Excite myself! Bah! Always it is—'do not excite yourself!' Can you find nothing else to say? Now, you will explain—eh?—you will explain! What is it about this stolen money that Nicolo Capriano's daughter does not like? You hear—I call you Nicolo Capriano's daughter!"

It was a moment before she answered.

"I do not like it—because it has made my soul sick tonight." She turned her head away. "I hid behind the old panel when he went out. I do not like it; I hate it. I hate it with all my soul! I did not understand at first, not until your talk with him tonight, that there was any money involved. I thought it was just to help him get away from the police who were hounding him even after his sentence had been served, and also to protect him from that gang who tried to get him in Vinetto's place—and that we were doing it for Tony's sake. And then it all seemed to come upon me in a flash, as I went toward the door to let him out tonight—that there was the stolen money, and that I was helping him, and had been helping him in everything that was done here, to steal it again. I know what I should have done. It would have done no good, it would have been utterly useless; I realized that—but I would have been honest with myself. I should have protested there and then. But I shrank from the position I was in. I shrank from having him ask me what I had to do with honesty, I, who—and you have said it yourself—had a moment ago—I, who was Nicolo Capriano's daughter; I, who, even if I protested on one score, had knowingly and voluntarily done my share in hoodwinking the police on another. He would have had the right to think me mad, to think me irresponsible—and worse. I shrank from having him laugh in my face. And so I let him go, because I must say that to him or no; for I could not be hypocrite enough to wish him a smiling good-by, to wish him good fortune and success—I couldn't—I tell you, I couldn't—and so—and so I stepped behind the panel, and let him pass."

Nicolo Capriano's two hands were outthrust and clenched, his lips had widened until the red gums showed above his teeth, and he glared at his daughter.

"By God!" he whispered hoarsely. "It is well for you, you kept your mouth shut! Do you hear, you—you—" A paroxysm of coughing seized him, and he fell back upon the pillows.

In an instant, Teresa was bending over him anxiously.

He pushed her away, and struggled upward again, and for a moment he shook his fists again at his daughter—and then his eyes were half veiled, and his hands opened, and he began to pat the girl's arm, and his voice held a soft, purring note.

"Listen! You are not a fool, my little one. I have not brought you up to be a fool—eh? Well, then, listen. We have a little money, but it is not much. And he will get that hundred thousand dollars. Do you understand? He is clever, and he has the courage. Do you think that I would have tricked the police for him, otherwise? Eh—do you think old Nicolo Capriano does not know what he is about?"

She stared at him, a sort of dawning dismay in her eyes.

"You mean," she said, and the words seemed to come in a hard, forced way from her lips, "you mean that if he gets that money again, you are to have a share?"

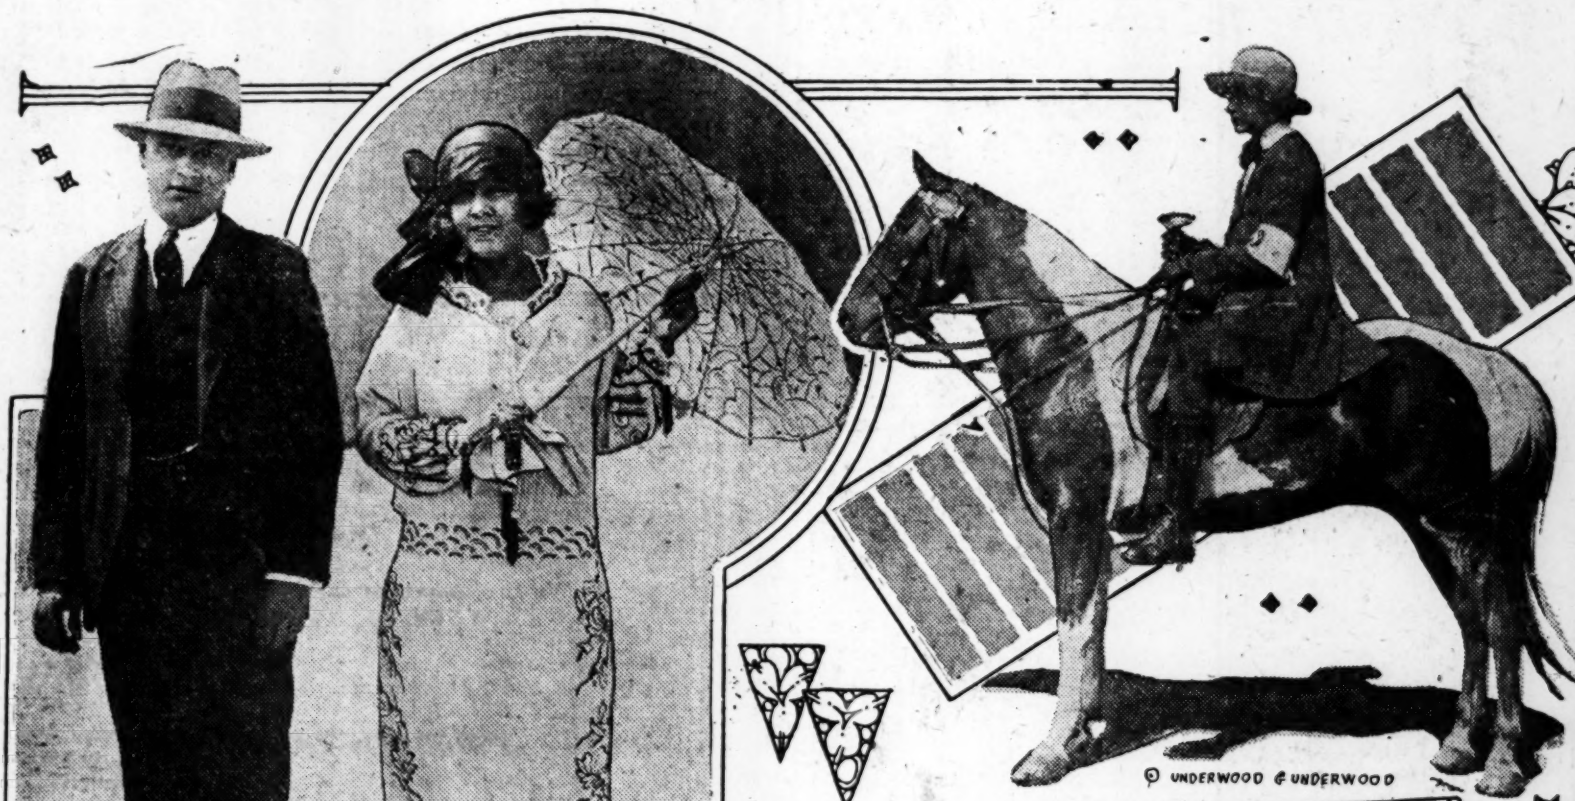

"A share! Ha, ha!" The old Italian was rocking backward and forward in glee. "No, my little one, not a share—Nicolo Capriano does not deal in shares any more. All—my little one—all! One hundred thousand dollars—all! And my little black-eyes will have such gowns as—"

"Father!" It came in a startled, broken cry of amazement and bitter expostulation.

Nicolo Capriano stopped his rocking, and looked at her. A sudden glint of fury leaped from the smoldering eyes.

"Bah!" he said angrily. "Am I mistaken after all? Is that you are your mother—and not a Capriano! Perhaps I should not have told you, but now you will make the best of it, and behave yourself, and not play the child—ah? Do you think

I risked myself with the police for nothing! Yes—all! All—except that I must pay that leech Dago George something for looking after our young friend—con amore—con amore. Nicolo Capriano—eh?—since I signed the letter so."

She stood an instant, straight and tense, but a little backward on her heels, as though she had recoiled from a blow that had been struck her—and then she bent swiftly forward, and caught both her father's wrists in her strong young grasp, and looked into his eyes for a long minute, as though to read deep into his soul.

"You signed that letter con amore!" Her voice was colorless. "You signed it—con amore—the code word of the old, horrible, miserable days when this house was a den of outlaws, the code word that marked out the victim who was to be watched and hounded down!"

The old bomb king wrenched himself still further up in bed. He shook his wrists free.

"What is it to you!" he screamed in a blaze of fury—and fell into a second, and more violent paroxysm of coughing—and now caught at his breast with his thin, blue-tipped fingers, and now in unbridled passion waved his arms about like disjointed flails. "Yes—I signed it that—con amore. And it is the old signal! Yes, yes! And Dago George will obey. And he will watch our young friend—watch—watch—watch! And in the end—bah!—in the end our young friend will supply Nicolo Capriano with that hundred thousand dollars. Ha! And in the end we will see that our young friend does not become troublesome. He is a pawn—a pawn!"

Old Nicolo's face, between rage and coughing, had grown a mottled purple. "A pawn! And when a pawn has lost its usefulness—eh?—it is swept from the board—eh? Con amore! The old days again! The finger of Nicolo Capriano lifted—and the puppets jump! Con amore! I will see that Dago George knows what to do with a young man who brings him Nicolo Capriano's letter. Ha, ha! Yes, yes; I will take care of that!"

MLLE. SOREL'S CLAIM

PARIS.—Is a famous actress legally entitled to special considerations and lower rates as regards merchandise purchased or work done for her?

This is the novel contention advanced by Mlle. Cecile Sorel, the popular French actress of the Comedie Francaise, who appeared in her repertoire in the United States last spring in answer to a suit brought against her by her laundress, who charged 5000 francs (about $275 at present rate of exchange) for laundering of Sorel's blouses.

Mlle. Sorel claims that her reputation as an artist and in accordance with custom should entitle her to more reasonable prices and less salted blouses.

The Judges of the Civil Tribunal of Paris are therefore called upon to appreciate this quasi-justice argument. Their decision is anxiously awaited by the Parisian artistic world, and evidently not the less by the tradesmen furnishing them.

RENEWING BEACH COSTUMES.

Like the end of a perfect summer, the end of a perfect bathing suit or beach costume is inevitable, particularly if one has worn it a great many times. To live up to our suit for the weeks of beach lounging that remain, a bit of ribbon will prove indispensable. A ribbon armband, head band or girdle will serve admirably to keep your costume fresh until the very last day you will need it.

Blackheads Go Quick
By This Simple Method

Blackheads—big ones or little ones, soft ones or hard ones—on any part of the body, go quick by a simple method that just dissolves them. To do this get about two ounces of calomine powder from your druggist—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly for a few seconds—blackheads have gone. Rubbing and squeezing blackheads only open the pores of the skin and leave them larger and dirtier—while this simple application of calomine powder and the water dissolve them right out, leaving the skin soft and the pores in their natural condition.

THE HOBBIES of NOTED PERSONS

By LOUIS M. NOTKIN.

IN answer to my request as to the type of hobby she has, Miss Lilian D. Wald, noted sociologist, writes:

"I hardly know what you mean by 'hobbies and avocations,' though I presume that you have in mind interests or occupations that lie beyond professional and family responsibilities.

"I have had a great diversity of interests relating to people and to projects of local and international matters and it would be difficult to enumerate them. These have left no time for what you may mean by 'hobbies and avocations.' It does not mean at all that I have not had great pleasures and much entertainment, but these have been interwoven in my daily life and are not apart from it.

"Participation in stimulating society, happiness with children, the reading of good books and a share of new ventures in the drama have been closely related to men and women, little boys and little girls with whom I am associated."

What Mothers Should Know

By Dr. Charlotte C. West.

THE TOILET OF THE NOSE.

EVERY mother should see that her children give the same daily care to cleansing the nostrils that is given the teeth and mouth, for nowhere in the world are catarrhal conditions of the upper air passages so prevalent as in America. Our fall weather is so variable we may have an oppressively hot day followed by bitter cold.

Children are especially victimized by sudden barometric variations, and neglect of their needs in so simple a matter as attention to the nasal toilet may lead to serious catarrhal trouble.

"Big oaks from little acorns grow," so does the proper development of the entire body depend upon so apparently small a thing as an unobstructed breathing apparatus.

When we are in perfect health we never require the use of a handkerchief to free the nose from accumulated mucus; and in polite society it is looked upon as a decided disgrace to blow the nose. In our treacherous climate, however, and with the indifferent health of our children, they should be taught the need for blowing the nose and be shown how to blow it, but they should be provided with clean handkerchiefs and punished in some way for neglect in this respect.

Children who have poorly developed nostrils should be encouraged to play games with blow-pipes and such things that will gradually enlarge these openings and insure the free intake of good air.

"Colds" must never be neglected. There isn't the least doubt that repeated colds lay the foundation for much serious and sometimes trouble. A book could be written on this subject alone. In our climate the delicate nostrils upon the inside of the nose, and the greatest care must be exercised in bathing, in dusting, in the ventilation of sleeping quarters, so that the child will not be exposed to atmospheric changes that will be overheard.

Sleeping out-of-doors is a pleasant thing and children should be kept in the open all day, either awake, and in freely ventilated rooms at night.

Nature provides an abundant glandular tissue in the nasopharynx (back of throat) during early childhood. It was the old home of his father and mother, Johnny and Mary, for some time he didn't know where he sat looking at the old stone wall. The longer he looked at the more it seemed to him that breathing seems in some way to be a very decided effect upon the

eral nutrition, that is to say, the body as a whole is not nourished even when the child is being well fed.

In addition to all this, the child is a very decided effect upon the general nutrition, that is to say, the body as a whole is not nourished even when the child is being well fed.

When, therefore, the nasal passages are free from all obstructions, the child is able to breathe freely and the body as a whole is not nourished even when the child is being well fed.

TURNING LIFE'S PAGES

By WINIFRED BLACK

HE'S won him back—the great poet. And she's a great actress and the newspapers are full of the story. They were sweethearts some years ago—the poet and the actress. They grew tired of the affair and wrote the actress a letter which told her that the poet had gone away and that she was going to kill herself. The poet laughed and ran away and stayed away.

What of it? The poet cares whether he goes back or stays away? The poet is no doubt very fine—for those who can read it in its native tongue.

What are his private affairs to his public friends? A Time for Everything.

Isn't there something a little bit ridiculous in all these raptures over a more-than-middle-aged man with a bald head and eyes that are no longer almost young?

Expect young lovers to make fools of themselves. Really rather nice to see a boy of twenty sighing and looking up at a girl, but when a man of fifty goes through the same motions—do you call that pathetic or ludicrous?

There's a great scandal to-day in a certain city about two elderly persons. One is a bachelor, nearly sixty, rich and powerful. The other is a woman, also rich and a power in society.

She's a grandmother—but she's in love. She's with the bachelor, and every one knows it. Somehow I can't understand it all seems to me so utterly ridiculous!

When a man over fifty tries to play the part of a lover I feel as if I ought to laugh at him. I feel as if I ought to laugh at him flying kites with the seven-year-old boys, or playing hopscotch with the ten-year-olds.

As for the old woman who makes a goose of herself with a belated love—I never can laugh at that. I have seen too many old women playing with dolls and making doll clothes for the harmless wards of the insane asylum.

Life's a Book. What a bore it must be to think about the same things at fifty that you thought about at twenty!

Why, life's a book—an enthralling book—full of adventure and crowded with gorgeous pictures! Some of them are sad and some are merry. Some are beautiful and some are hideous. But they are full of fascinating interest. Why keep reading the same chapter over and over when you already know it by heart?

Give me youth at twenty, middle age at forty, and hale and sensible old age from fifty on.

Pheasant Plumage Barred From Hats

—O—

LONDON. — Sportive English gentlemen can shoot pheasants without stint or limit during the season opening in October, but their wives and daughters will not be permitted to adorn their hats with the gorgeous plumes of these birds, as the Board of Trade has just issued a ukase prohibiting the use of pheasant feathers in millinery creations after Jan. 1 next.

The feather merchants and their feminine clientele are concerned over the edict as since the egret and bird of paradise plumes were barred from hat trimmings, the milliners have depended much upon the plumage of the pheasants to replace the bright coloring taken away from them by the previous law. The swan has been added to the list of birds, including the jay and the sparrow, which may be used for millinery purposes.

Women Outwit Fashion Makers

—O—

PARIS.—The recent change in length of skirts by Parisian dress-makers is being generally followed by fashion leaders, but the rank and file of women—those whose gowns are bought with hard earned money—are beating the game in two ways. Many of them have resurrected their year-before-last knee-length skirts.

Others have simply slashed their skirts, giving a sort of Directoire effect, while those who have draped, overlapping panel skirts have loosened the panel so that a walking motion or a friendly breeze gives an excellent display of hosiery.

SOMETHING NEW IN COLLARS.

PARIS.—They are calling collars "flouncies" now. These new collars start out much like a bertha, but they hang down on the side in back so that a long, panel-like point extends to the hem of the dress.

Calcutta has more than 18,000 child wives, of which 14,000 are between 10 and 14 years of age.

INTERESTING FACTS -O-

THE first ancestor of the modern bicycle was invented in the early part of the nineteenth century. It was nothing more than two wooden wheels connected by a perch from which the rider propelled the thing by thrusting his feet on the ground. But what really started the development of the bicycle industry was the tall velocipede or "boneshaker," with its small front wheel, invented in 1863. The first maker of the real American bicycle was Col. Albert A. Pope. The first American safety low bicycle was introduced in 1887.

Children's Bedtime Story ::

By Thornton W. Burgess

Young Chuck, who was living in the old stone wall on the edge of the Old Orchard, didn't like to live there always. He intended to stay there for a while, but he still dreamed of seeing the Great World. But it was very pleasant there, with plenty of food close at hand, and was as good as he could imagine. One day slipped away and the other day still made his home in the old stone wall.

One day he followed the old wall down to the far corner of the Old Orchard, and there under an apple tree he discovered a new home. It was the old home of his mother, and mother, Johnny and Chuck, though he didn't know for some time he sat looking from the bushes along the old wall. The longer he looked the more it seemed to him that it was just the kind of a place he wanted.

One day he ventured over the wall and peeked his head inside. He found that some one was living there, but he was disappointed. He had no idea how disappointed he was. Then a happy thought came to him.

"That's just what I mean," said he. "What sort of a fellow is he?" "Most independent fellow I all the Great World and one to whom everybody is very polite," replied Striped Chipmunk, and then scampered away.

The young Chuck was very curious. "If every one is so polite to him and he is so independent he must be big and dangerous," said the young Chuck to himself. Then he scratched his nose thoughtfully. You see, he couldn't understand how any one who was very big could get into that old house. So he went more time than ever watching it.

At last his patience was rewarded. Late one afternoon some one in a black and white coat came out of that old house. It was one of Jimmy Skunk's children, and he was smaller than the young Chuck. The latter noticed this right away. "Poo!" said he to himself. "I'm not afraid of that fellow! I could drive him out of that house without half trying."

He watched the young Skunk smile along up through the Old Orchard. Presently he saw Bowser the Hound headed that way and he chuckled. You see, he expected that growler would promptly chase that young Skunk, and perhaps fill him. But Bowser did nothing of the kind. He didn't even bark at him. He was most polite to him.

The young Chuck became thoughtful. Here was a mystery. There must be something he didn't know about. He would wait before trying to take possession of that old house. It was the beginning of wisdom on the part of the young Chuck.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS.

I'd like to get away a while from all I've known to date. I'd like to find some seagirt isle where strange adventures wait. Amid those sunny Southern seas must be a host of thrills, unmarred by thoughts of groceries, to plumbers' soaring bills. How lovingly my fancy dwells on songs the wild waves sing, on coral reefs and rosy shells and all that sort of thing! As in my easy chair, I sprawl beside my reading light, I hear the far, wild places call, the lure of starry night. The breathless heat, the jungle brutes and all their creeping clan, I sense while kicking off my boots beside my whirling fan. I'd like a chance at something new instead of tame week-ends, and often speak of Timbuctoo when lunching with my friends. Oh, I would tramp with steady stride where none have trod before. (Memo—Next week, my daily ride at 3 instead of 4.) I hear the cry from far away where each man dwells alone—(What's this! They didn't send today to fix my telephone!) The wanderlust is in my blood, I'm of a roving race; I pine to brave the raging flood, the desert's dusty face. I hear old Nature's stirring cry; it thrills me to the core to think what great adventures lie in Yap and Singapore. The trackless wastes could lure me far, I spurn the beaten way; I feel the pull of Zanzibar, the charm of old Cathay! I'll never quench this savage flair, this caveman strain, I know; yes, you may pass the caviar; turn on the radio.

GOOD FOR THE JEWELER.

Household Hints

Use very soft cloths for rubbing patent leather. A gloss is obtained by rubbing a soft cloth on white heel-ball, and lightly polishing the shoes with it.

Gilt frames that are dirty should be washed with warm water to which a little household ammonia has been added. Do not use too much water, and dry the frame with a cloth as soon as possible.

New Starch Discovery Preserves Your Dainty Garments

FREQUENT washing is the hardest thing in the world on clothes. Perhaps the chief reason clothes soil so readily is that they are not protected by starch, or else the proper kind of starch has not been used!

Thousands of housewives now starching with Linit, are giving their fabrics protection from wear and tear.

New Starch Discovery

THIS remarkable starch is made by an improved process that keeps it fluid after it cools. You are never troubled with clotting, smearing or "blistering." Linit penetrates every thread of the fabric, helps prevent wear, and strengthens the material.

Linit gives ordinary cotton goods an attractive linen finish and your Linit-starched garments remain clean and fresh much longer.

Important to you

AFTER Linit is thoroughly dissolved, according to directions and ready for use, you will notice it is THIN and FREE-RUNNING LIKE WATER—with a "milky" appearance. Be sure to use Linit according to directions, and, unlike other starches, you will not find Linit stiff or jelly-like. This is one reason why Linit goes much further than the old-fashioned kind of starches and is easier to iron with.

Linit costs 10c at all grocers

Get a package and begin the modern way of starching your fabrics. Perfection in starching guaranteed or your money refunded.

Linit is made by the Corn Products Refining Company—makers of the famous Argo Starch—Karo Syrup and Mazola Salad and Cooking Oil.

When pitchers held their sway,
Their turn for going to the mound
Was every other day.

Instead of sitting on the bench,
You'd find him on the gate.

And when they started in to clout

The captain didn't take him out,
But made him stand the gaff.
Whereas if one should pitch today
A full nine-inning game,
You'd hear that bimbo yell, "Hooray!
I'm in the hall of fame."

HOW COME?

Illinois reports that more prescriptions are filled than issued. Some people are having them refilled, we take it.

An investigator finds that the railroads are suffering from 15 complaints. Looks like an operation will be necessary.
Some go so far as to accuse Dr. McAdoo of malpractice on the railroads. Too much scrap iron in the system.

Among the things inherited by President Coolidge might be mentioned a hard coal strike and Col. Harvey. We got to take things as they come.

Judge Landis came to town Sunday and shook hands with Jimmy Austin and Dave Danforth. Every little bit helps.

Right or wrong, Dave Danforth is the most popular ball player in St. Louis right now. Everybody loves a martyr.

Everett Scott has passed his 1100th consecutive game and is ready for as many more as the schedule makers can provide.
Georges Carpentier says he still thinks he can whip Jack Dempsey. If he could get anybody else to think so maybe he could get a return match.

Georges says if he hadn't broken his hand on Dempsey's chin in the second round he is confident he would have won. Car's mistake was in not breaking Jack's chin on his hand instead of vice versa.

ONE OF THOSE PERFECT GROUCHES.

JUDGE HAL CORBETT, formerly of Paducah, but now a practicing attorney in New York, is one of the most affable men alive. But he has a friend, also a former Kentuckian, who, on occasion, is not quite so cordial of manner.
One bright morning Corbett was on his way to his office and bumped into his grouchy acquaintance.
"Good day!" he cried. "Where are you bound for so early?"
"None of your blankety-blank business," answered the other. "And if you weren't a good friend of mine I wouldn't tell you that much!"
Upon another occasion the same misanthrope was standing with several others upon the steps of the county courthouse. The noon hour came, and the whistle on a nearby planting mill sounded.
"Twelve o'clock," he remarked. "Well, I guess I'd better be going home to dinner. If dinner ain't ready I'm going to raise hell, and if it is ready I ain't a-goin' to eat a damn bite."
